Legion Convention

Work has begun on plans for the national convention of the American Legion auxiliary at San Antonio, Tex., October 8-12. Mrs. Beulah Hardin, of Harlingen, Tex., is convention chairman, and Mrs. Walton B. Hood, below, is in charge of the program.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Next week will mark the windup of the present primary campaign. Primary election day is one week from Tuesday. Indications are that a good vote will be registered at the primaries, although the campaigns have not been as heated as some experienced during the past few years.

Apparently every city is having the same condition as is confronted in New Castle with regard to election of school teachers. With 30 or 40 places to be filled this year, there were some 400 or so applicants. We note in a Cleveland report this morning that for the 200 vacancies in the schools of that city there are more than 5,000 applicants.

New Castle residents are certainly gratified that the German and Irish fliers who attempted the daring trip across the Atlantic succeeded in reaching land, although they did not make it to their destination in New York.

The expressed opinion of Clarence Chamberlin, noted flier who made the flight from New York to Germany, as given to a News man yesterday prior to his departure from New Castle, was about the correct forecast of the case. Mr. Chamberlin said that he believed that they would be able to make it across the ocean, but doubted if they could make the flight to New York, as it would be a difficult battle to buck headwinds along the coast.

New Castle Moose will pause to honor the memory of their deceased members on Sunday evening, holding their annual memorial service at the Scottish Rite Cathedral. Likewise, the United Commercial Travelers will also hold their annual memorial service on Sunday evening, attending the service at the Central Presbyterian church.

Has anybody seen Joe Knowles?

Widening of North Mercer street has eliminated a number of old landmarks. Two trees between the curb and sidewalk in the block between North and Washington streets have survived the years, but with the widening of the street the trees have been removed.

New Castle's gaze is being lifted up these days. With almost daily performances in the air by local aviators, it is not at all unusual to see groups of citizens on the street with their eyes turned up toward the sky, watching the fliers.

There is ample evidence that many New Castle citizens are carrying out a real clean-up campaign as far as

Trans-Atlantic Fliers Are Forced Down Near Labrador On Friday

FUEL RUNS OUT; PLANE FORCED OUT OF COURSE

Fliers Make First Westward Trip Across Atlantic Via Air

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 14.—The Junkers monoplane Bremen will attempt to take off "some time today" from Greenely Island, Quebec, it was announced today by A. A. Schroeder, general passenger agent of the North German Lloyd line.

Word to this effect from the trio of fliers was relayed by Canadian sources to Schroeder today.

(International News Service)

HALIFAX, N. S., April 14.—While two continents applauded their death-defying dash by plane across the Atlantic, the three airmen who landed at Greenely Island in the German monoplane Bremen were marooned today on a tiny ice-bound islet off the desolate Labrador coast.

To two Germans and one Irish airman go the honors of being the first to conquer the perils of a westbound flight over the North Atlantic. These heroes of the air are Capt. Herman Koehl, Baron von Huenefeld and Commandant James E. Fitzmaurice of the Free State air forces.

Just how long it will be before the airmen reach civilization is problematical. After sending out a wireless message saying that he and two companions were safe, Baron Von Huenefeld sent another saying that the Bremen had been slightly damaged, but requesting that fuel be sent. This indicated that the flyers might attempt to continue the flight to their original destination—Mitchel Field.

Capital Praises Crew Of Bremen

Washington Lauds Flight Of Bremen As Memorable Event; Many Failed Previously

UNFEASIBLE TO SEND PLANE TO RESCUE

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 14—The capital was thrilled today over the safe landing of the German and Irish aviators on the little island of Greenly off the coast of Labrador, and hailed their feat of being the first to cross the north Atlantic on a westward flight, where so many have failed, as a memorable one.

Excitement was at a high pitch all during the long hours the airmen were reported overdue. Announcement of their safety was made at theatres and other public gatherings last night and was greeted with cheering and applause. Newspaper offices were deluged with telephone calls for confirmation.

While officials of the army and navy aviation were extravagant in their praise of the accomplishment today, regret was expressed that the airmen did not reach their announced desination of Mitchel field, N. Y.

It was considered unfeasible to send a rescue plane from the United States to take the two Germans and the Irishman off the almost barren Island.

Brig. Gen. J. E. Fechet, chief of the army air corps, told International News Service today that in his opinion the aviators would have to be rescued by a vessel.

Relief Plans For Stranded Bremen Crew Postponed

(International News Service)

CURTISS FIELD, N. Y., April 14—Fraulein Herta Junkers, daughter of Dr. Hugo Junkers, manufacturer of the trans-Atlantic monoplane Bremen and representative of her father's company in America, announced shortly after 9 o'clock this morning that tentative plans to send relief to the Bremen from here by air had been definitely canceled because of unfavorable weather conditions.

Wife Of Irish Free State Aircraft Commandant Happy Over Husband's Success

(International News Service)

DUBLIN, April 14.—Joy reigned supreme in this city today when it was learned that Commandant James E. Fitzmaurice, chief of the Irish Free State airforce, and his two German companions had landed safely in America after they had almost been given up for lost.

The Irish flier's wife was radiant with happiness after having gone through almost two days of wracking uncertainty.

Wife Is Happy.

"I am the happiest and proudest woman in the world," she said. I was confident all the time that he would get there safely but oh—that waiting.

"I haven't slept since my husband left but I will sleep soundly and happily now. He won't do any more stunt flying now if I can help it.

"My husband has achieved his life's ambition. He should be satisfied now."

President Cosgrave also received the good news with proud elation.

We are very proud that the first successful attempt to cross the Atlantic ocean westward by air should have been made from the Baldonnel Airfield and that the commandant of the Irish Free State airforce should have been associated with this great enterprise," he said.

Former Pittsburgh Police Captain Is Killed In Crash

Two Girl Companions Of Deposed Police Captain Suffer Injuries In Accident

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 14.—Former Police Captain Anthony Forrester, 40, was almost instantly killed and two girl companions narrowly escaped death when the car in which they were riding on the Washington Pike near Bridgeville, South Fayette township, overturned after a head-on collision with another machine. The car was driven by Forrester, who was accompanied by Esther Fulton, 19, and Anna Chesecz, 18, both of Pittsburgh. State police who investigated the fatal crash today held Walter Hopper of Canonsburg, the driver of the other machine, pending further investigation.

Forrester, who had had 14 years' service as a police officer, was dismissed by the police trial board following charges that he had interfered with the arrests of two men who had taken part in a political battle in Soho. He was said to have been seeking reinstatement at the time of the accident.

Harry Davies is reported as improving at the Senango Valley hospital.

Mellon To Quit Cabinet At End Of Present Term

Secretary Of Treasury Tells Confidants He Will Enter Retirement

Pittsburgher Has Desired To Get Away From Actual Conduct Of Public Affairs

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon has revealed to confidants that he will retire from public life at the end of his present cabinet term next March—irrespective of anything that may happen in November. He is tired and wants a rest.

Mellon has confided to close friends his desire to get away from the actual conduct of public affairs. Reports have persisted that he would not accept the treasury post should the Republicans remain in power, but authoritative information concerning his attitude heretofore has been guarded closely.

There is no probability, however, that Mellon will fade out of the foreground in the Republican picture. Only a few weeks ago he said that foremost in his mind was the Republican convention at Kansas City.

To Attend Convention

"What are your plans for the summer?" Mellon was asked.

"The Kansas City convention—after that I have no definite plans," Mellon replied.

In the face of almost constant sniping by political enemies on Capital Hill and of constant bombardment from radical prohibitionists, Mellon,—serene, smiling—has withstood all tracks with rarely a show

Runners Leave Oklahoma City

Immense Crowd Greets Pyle's Marathoners On Friday Evening

DILKS MAINTAINS HIS STEADY PACE

By LELAND C. LEWIS
International News Service Special Correspondent

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., April 14.—Rejuvenated by the cheers of 100,000 thrilled spectators, C. C. Pyle's bunion derbyists pushed out of Oklahoma City this morning for Chandler, their forty-second control fifty miles away.

Oklahoma City and the entire state for miles around flocked to the metropolis to pay tribute to Andrew Payne. When Payne lagged behind to come in fifteenth on 33.5 mile lap from El Reno, the enthused thousands cheered Nestor Erickson, Portchester, N. Erickson's time for the 33.5 miles was 3:55:24. Olli Wanttinen, New York, and John Gober, Moberly, Missouri, romped in second in 4:04:30. Wanttinen's continued drive has entrenched him in fifth place, close upon the heels of Phillip Granville, Jamaica negro, of Hamilton, Ontario. Wanttinen's elapsed time was 285:09:13.

Tomorrow the Pyle caravan will proceed to Bristow. Throughout the day and night the Oklahoma State Fair grounds, where Governor Henry Johnson welcomed the runners and walkers, thousands milled about the control station. Each runner in the van had one or more friends to shout him greeting. Police Officer Resigns Place On Local Force

William James, member of the police force of the city for the past three years, on Friday turned in his equipment and presented his resignation, effectively immediately, to Chief of Police C. C. Horner. The resignation was accepted and this now leaves two vacancies in the police department to be filled in the immediate future. Officer James had experience in police work previous to entering the service of the police department of the city and was known as an efficient officer in all lines of police work. While he has given no indication of what he contemplates, it is understood that he plans to go into some other line of work.

Germany Lauds Bremen Flight Over Atlantic

Despair And Gloom In Germany Turns To Joyous Celebration As Fliers Land

KOEHL'S HOME IS FLOODED BY FLOWERS

Flight Stamped "Foolhardy Enterprise" Is Now Given Commendation

(International News Service)

BERLIN, April 14.—After being plunged into the depths of gloom and despair, Germany was awakened today by the joyous news that Captain Koehl, Baron von Huenefeld and their Irish companion had safely landed in America.

Newsboys ran through the streets with extras. Thousands of papers were avidly bought up in a few minutes. Impromptu celebrations were started everywhere.

International News Service was the first to bring the glad tidings to Germany.

Hailed As Triumph.

The usually stoic stream of workers at dawn went to their tasks with faces wreathed in smiles.

For the first time, Germany really appreciated the wonderful achievement of its two dauntless airmen and their Irish companion.

Yesterday the flight had been stamped a foolhardy "sporting enterprise." Today it was hailed as a triumph for Germany.

The home of Mrs. Koehl, wife of the leader of the flight, was flooded with flowers and congratulations.

All the highest government officials expressed their joy at the successful outcome of the venture and sent congratulatory messages to the relatives of the fliers.

Greenely Island Is Barren Spot

Plane Not Likely To Be Able To Take Off From Island

(International News Service)

HALIFAX, N. S., April 14.—Greenely Island, where the transatlantic plane Bremen was forced down by lack of fuel on its projected flight from Dublin to New York, is a high, barren piece of rock and ice, half a mile long, some seven miles south of the Labrador coast.

The island, a mere dot on the map, rises 80 feet above the sea. It is moss covered, but without other vegetation and boasts not a single tree. It is formed something in the shape of a camel, with two large humps, and it is between these that the Bremen rests.

For this reason it is regarded here as most unlikely that the plane could take off, even though undamaged, should fuel be shipped to the island. The island is uninhabited except for the tender of the government lighthouse and a half dozen keepers and their families.

At the luncheon held in the crystal ballroom of The Castleton, Louis B. Round, district manager of the Pennsylvania Power company, presided and introduced the officials of the company to their guests. C. S. MacCalla, vice president and general manager of the Penn-Ohio company, gave a brief address on the future plans of the company. Frank W. Other officials of the system introduced were H. N. Wood, manager of light and power; E. G. Dunlap, vice president and treasurer; Carl E. Yacoll, manager of securities, and Frank West, director of public relations. Brief speeches were made by these men and by Mayor William H. Gillespie, David S. Explosion Razes Crowded Hall In Missouri Town

Garage Explosion Wrecks Dance Hall In Same Structure

MANY OF VICTIMS ARE UNRECOGNIZABLE

Large Number Of Injured In Addition To Those Who Were Killed

(International News Service)

WEST PLAINS, Mo., April 14.—Thirty-three persons were killed and many others were seriously injured when a terrific gasoline explosion wrecked a crowded dance hall here last night.

Rescuers dragged victims from beneath fiery embers as the walls caved in and mountainous tongues of flame enveloped the debris. Two adjoining buildings were caught in the molten blast and soon were a mass of flames.

Throughout the night firemen battled the fire.

Today officially the bodies of 33 young men and women were lined up in a morgue, while almost as many more persons were in hospitals burned seriously.

The business houses destroyed were the Adams building, adjoining the dance hall and garage, a theater, a restaurant and a commission house. The front and rear walls of the theater building were blown out and the side walls crumbled.

Many relatives of the dead had gone to the theater. They witnessed the fire and some are believed to have lost their lives trying to rescue the unfortunates.

Dale Allen, son of a merchant, was blown across the street from the force of the explosion.

Every plate window within two blocks of the garage was shattered. The explosion was heard for miles.

Search Debris

A number of citizens, deputized by the sheriff, were keeping order. Today search was being made in the debris for the charred remains of the victims. Residents of surrounding towns were arriving in large numbers to give aid to the stricken families.

One charred body, recovered from the ruins, was recognized as that of a young married woman. Her mother identified it.

Communication with West Plains was seriously hampered, as only one telephone line linked the stricken city with the outside world.

The telephone company gave precedence to all calls from residents in the city to friends and relatives outside and was unable to furnish lines for the incoming calls.

Many of the bodies of the dead were burned beyond recognition.

Relatives and friends told authori-

Now hope seemed gone as they were not seen, but the gloom turned to sighs and cheers, when they landed their ship on an icy coast, these modern Three Musketeers. Safe at last though they missed their goal, but the perils were o'er and done, they had done the job they had started to do, the weather is

American Eagle Plane Is Praised By Chamberlin

Noted Flier Is Enthused Over Pilot Schultz's Local Plane

If the huge crowd which watched Clarence D. Chamberlin, noted trans-Atlantic flyer, land on the field on the Harlansburg road did nothing else, at least it packed down a portion of the field. Up until Thursday, when Chamberlin came here, the field was heavy and many loads of ashes were hauled in to it.

So many people were present that they packed down a large portion of the landing field better than a roller could have done it, and the field is now in shape for taking off and landing. In addition, the warmer weather has done considerable to dry up the field.

Friday afternoon Pilot Ed. Schultz took his "American Eagle" plane aloft, following the baptismal flight in it made by Clarence D. Chamberlin. It was the first time Chamberlin had ever flown an American Eagle and upon his return spoke in commendatory terms concerning the qualities of the plane. He also commented upon the field, saying that with a little work it could be made into a good one.

Within the next few days, Pilot Schultz will be prepared to do passenger flying. The "Pride of New Castle" is working smoothly and has been subjected to many severe tests for reliability.

Scout Troop Will Be Installed On Sunday Evening

Scout Troop No. 38, which is being sponsored by the Third United Presbyterian church, will be officially installed and certificates and commissions presented to the scouts of the troop and officials in charge at the presentation ceremony to be held in the church on Sunday evening.

An excellent program has been prepared for the occasion and several prominent men of this city will speak.

One of the features of the program will be the presentation of the American and troop flags to the organization. The former flag will be presented to the troop by Earl Book, chairman of the troop committee while the various troop flags will be presented by Frank F. Fischer.

The program, undoubtedly will be a very impressive one and all parents and friends of the scouts as well as others are invited to attend.

ties that a number of persons were known to have been in the dance hall, but had failed to return after the blast and succeeding fire, and their names were added to the list of the known dead.

Explosion Sudden

The explosion was so sudden and the flames spread so rapidly it is feared some of the missing will be found in the debris.

Dancers were thrown into a veritable inferno before escape was possible through the doorways. Many had to brave the flames to get outside. Others on the outside worked frantically to save the trapped ones.

No one was injured in a theater in the same building, as the show house had just dismissed the second crowd of the night.

Among the dead were:
Paul Evans Jr.
Mrs. R. G. Martin, wife of an automobile dealer.
Three unidentified.
Among the missing are:
Robert Mullins, grain dealer.
Mrs. Peter MacFarland, undertaker.
Mrs. Robert Murphy.
Levy Reed.
The seriously injured include:
H. C. Allen, merchant.
David and Everett White of Doniphan, Mo.
All reserve nurses within 15 miles were summoned to aid in giving treatment to those who suffered burns and injuries.
An entire block of business houses is in ruins.

of irritation. A little man behind a big desk, courteous, patient, unruffled by criticism.

Recently a demand for Mellon's resignation was heard in the Senate. Mellon smiled and added:

"What will do for him to say."

Mellon probably enjoyed his "tour of duty" as treasury head, as few men have enjoyed public life. Despite his 73 years he has not missed a single day because of illness in seven years as secretary. He is at his desk longer than most subordinates.

Coming to the treasury unfamiliar with public life, his first tasks were simply the continuation of his life-long role as the "big banker". There were facing solution problems of refunding the $12,000,000,000 foreign debts, retirement of the war-born $26,000,000,000 public debt, and re-writing the complicated and involved wartime tax schedules under which business and individuals were groaning.

All of these problems have been solved, and although Mellon had outstanding advisors, including S. Parker Gilbert, Girrard B. Winston and Ogden L. Mills, many of the fundamental policies were developed by himself.

POWER COMPANY OFFICIALS HOSTS

during the coming five years of expending nearly $50,000,000 in the Penn-Ohio community.

Mr. Funk, chief engineer, explained how in their program of development power would be brought from the super-power station at Toronto, O., on the Ohio river in five high power lines to Youngstown and New Castle, one of the lines to come directly from Toronto to the Cedar street sub-station while other power comes through Youngstown or from the power station at Lowellville.

At present power comes over the high tension lines from Lowellville to the Cedar street sub-station at 66,000 volts and there is reduced to 22,000 volts and sent to the other sub-stations of the city, including the Washington street sub-station near the Pennsylvania west side station, the Pulaski road sub-station, the new Cascade sub-station on Vogan avenue near Cascade park and the East New Castle sub-station on the Harlansburg road near Hickory Heights school.

On the tour Friday afternoon the officials explained how the voltage was stepped down at the sub-stations to 2,300 volts for use on the service lines to the different resident and industrial communities of the city. It was also explained how in any emergency power could be turned in from other sources than the power house at Lowellville and Toronto, the two chief sources, was a connection with the Duquesne Light & Power company at Junction Park and the Ohio Public Service company at Niles.

One of the most interesting things explained on the tour was the automatic control between the Cedar street sub-station and the Cascade sub-station whereby any disorder at the Cascade station is automatically reported to Cedar street and adjusted there by the operator. This was demonstrated from both ends of the line, showing how by a machine similar to the televox, switches were pulled or thrown in automatically from a distance of three miles.

In expressing the appreciation of the Chamber of Commerce for the entertainment of the day, Mr. Pyle paid a fine tribute to the district manager, Louis B. Round, whom he said was most beloved by the people of New Castle. The superior officers from Youngstown replied that they appreciated the tribute and also commended Mr. Round from the viewpoint of the company.

Plane Slightly Damaged.

HALIFAX, N. S., April 14.—The trans-Atlantic plane Bremen is slightly damaged, and its three occupants, Captain Hermann Koehl, Baron Ehrenfried Von Huenefeld and Commandant James Fitzmaurice, have escaped without injury, according to the latest word received here this morning.

The government is making every effort to find some means to reach the fliers and bring them south from their icy isolation on Greenely Island, off Labrador. However, the Straits of Belle Isle are still jammed with ice, according to official dispatches.

The three airmen are being well cared for by the lighthouse keeper on the island, it was stated, and they want for no necessity, although their surroundings naturally afford only the barest of comfort. It is believed here that the fliers were following the great circle course, summer route of steamers to the St. Lawrence via the Straits of Belle Isle, but that they encountered head winds which exhausted their fuel supply and forced them to land on the ice bound isle.

Ice Breaker Enroute.

MONTREAL, April 14.—The Canadian government Icebreaker Montcalm is proceeding today under forced steam for Point Amour, Labrado, to pick up the three trans-Atlantic fliers who were forced down at noon yesterday on barren Greenely Island, seven miles off the mainland, according to a radio message received here from the captain of the vessel.

The message from Captain Mercier of the Montcalm stated that the Montcalm was now in the Gulf of the St. Lawrence, between East Point and Cape Ray.

Captain Mercier stated that unless he encounters most unfavorable ice conditions he will reach Point Armour by tonight, and will have the fliers ashore in Canada by late tomorrow or early Monday morning.

Rejoice To Success.

NEW YORK, April 14—National interest was focused today upon the spectacular finish of the trans-Atlantic flight of the German monoplane Bremen. There was nation-wide rejoicing over the safe termination of the daring flight, even if the airmen were not able to maintain their course to their planned destination—Mitchel Field.

Not only aviation enthusiasts, but leaders in other branches of public activities, expressed elation that Capt. Herman Koehl and his two companions were safe. After darkness had fallen last night and the numerous reports of the Bremen being sighted had proved groundless, hope had begun to dwindle rapidly.

A great reception is being planned for Capt. Koehl, Baron von Huenefeld and Commandant James E. Fitzmaurice of the Free State air forces, when they reach this city. They will be feted and acclaimed with honors due the first aviators who were able to negotiate the westbound voyage over the Atlantic in the face of great peril.

Probably the happiest man in New York today was August J. Koehl, uncle of Pilot Herman Koehl of the Bremen. Prof. Koehl went to Mitchel field where he was the guest of the mayor's welcoming committee while awaiting the Bremen. Pacing up and down the operations office, Prof. Koehl eagerly scanned every bulletin and devoured every rumor and report.

The north Atlantic ocean has at last been spanned in a westward flight. The silver-gray monoplane Bremen is at Greenely island, seven miles off the coast of Labrador, after an epochal 34-hour flight during which it battled grimly against sleet, snow, rain and headwinds.

Captain Hermann Koehl, Commandant James E. Fitzmaurice and Baron Ehrenfried von Huenefeld are safe but they are marooned on an ice-bound island.

The Bremen was forced to alight because it ran out of fuel in its exhaustive fight against the elements. In landing the plane's propeller was smashed and its landing gear was slightly damaged.

The Canadian government has ordered the ice-breaker Montcalm to proceed to Greenely island to rescue the fliers. The Montcalm is now on its way and its captain radioed he expected to reach the island before nightfall.

Greenely island is in the straits of Belle Isle which are frozen over and closed to ordinary shipping. News of the flier's's landing was brought to Point Amour, Labrador, where there is a Canadian government wireless station, by dog-sled.

When the fliers landed they were fatigued but jubilant. They slept through the night at the home of the lighthouse keeper of the island.

An attempt will be made to reach the fliers by airplane, Mitchel field, L. I., officials announced today. The flight will be made in a sister plane to the Bremen, the only other Junkers plane in the United States. It will be piloted by Fred Melchoir and Fraulein Hertha Junkers, daughter of the foremost plane manufacturer in Germany.

Should the efforts to rescue the Bremen by ice-breaker and plane fail, the fliers may have to resort to dog-sled. In that case they face a journey of many days.

The Straits of Belle Isle separate Labrador from Newfoundland. The surrounding country is bleak and snow-covered. However, there is a fishing station on Greenely island which is plentifully supplied with food and the fliers will be comfortable regardless of the length of their stay.

Canadian government officials are averse to sending a plane to Greenely. They say the attempt would be too hazardous and a landing might be impossible.

The successful termination of the flight was hailed all over the world as an historical achievement. The fliers had almost been given up for lost when news of their safety was finally flashed around the globe.

Fear inspired by the tragic endings of the seven other airmen who dared to venture westward across the stormy north Atlantic, has given way to rejoicing everywhere.

Hop-Off Not Likely

HALIFAX, N. S., April 14.—Although it was reported that the stranded German-Irish flyers might try to hop off for New York today from ice-bound Greenely Island, Canadian marine men familiar with conditions said they believed this would be impossible, even if the Bremen were refueled. It was lack of fuel that forced the trans-Atlantic monoplane down at Greenely Island yesterday afternoon.

It is now understood that the damage to the Bremen was slight, but even if repairs were made, the airmen obtained gasoline from a trading station on the Labrador coast there were numerous obstacles in the way of continuation of the flight.

Ths island is not more than half a mile long and stands 80 feet out of the water. There is nothing approaching the nature of a runway and the island is said to be covered with soft snow. However, the German-Irish aviators are known to be skilled in mechanics and aircraft and it was admitted that they might attempt to hop off in the face of all the difficulties and dangers.

TRUE REPRESENTATION

No office holder can be fair to his constituency if he allows any person or group of persons to control his thinking. His refusal to be controlled by cliques or factions may engender opposition, but if he is honest he will remember that he is acting for all of the people in his district.

As a first term member of the Pennsylvania General Assembly in the session of 1927, I felt responsible to the citizens of New Castle alone. Responsible to the people who make up the city, who pay its taxes, run its mills and support its churches. If nominated and re-elected for the second term, I will feel responsible to the same people, the men and women of New Castle, and to them alone.

If you believe that your representative should be answerable to the people he represents, that his thought and action should not be controlled by selfish interests then I would appreciate your vote on April 24.

ASKS POLICE SERVICE

Editor of The News:—
Dear Sir:—

I would like to ask as a resident of Mahoningtown if we could not have police protection at the intersection of Madison avenue and N. Liberty street during such hours as the children are going and coming from the Mahoning school.

It is a dangerous crossing and at times the traffic is pretty heavy.

There have been two accidents in the vicinity since I have lived here and it seems no more than fair that the children should be protected here as they are in all cities.

During January there was an officer stationed there for a few days, but since then there has been no one.

I would feel, and no doubt many other mothers also, very grateful if this matter could be considered in the near future.

Very truly yours,

EDUCATION

"SCHOOL AGE 16 TO 66." This intriguing headline refers to the school known as Northwestern University, in Illinois, which seems to have an unusual range of age among its students. The oldest male student there is 61, the oldest female student is 66. The average is a little over 23.

The ideal school age, perhaps, would be from four to 80. Unfortunately most of us stop learning things really worth while somewhere between 20 and 30.

In time we may prolong our mental plasticity enough to take in new ideas after 40. It is too much to expect that we shall ever be able to continue learning to the natural end of life. Those elderly college students are doubtless learning many words, facts and formulas they didn't have in their heads before, but nothing fundamentally changing their manner of thinking.

Only the genius remains plastic long; and even so, works of genius produced in old age usually represent things the producer conceived when young or middle-aged.

SUPER-IMITATION

AMERICANS have been criticized from within and without for the installment plan of buying. An initial payment will get almost anything from lingerie to a limousine, and the installment business runs into the billions each year.

The British are chronic kickers in the direction of Uncle Sam but they are now eating any and all words ever uttered by them to the effect that deferred payments were rushing the United States on to economic suicide.

After exhausting every means known to them to improve business, manufacturers and merchants in England turned to the greatly condemned American plan. To their surprise it proved successful, so successful that the British volume of installment business is equal to that of the United States.

Not only have the British imitated the American system but they have carried it a step farther than it has ever been developed on this side of the Atlantic. It remained for them to introduce the installment system in the purchase of theatre tickets.

The psychology which prompts this offer is not quite clear. Here there is the lure of wearing or using while paying. But in the London theatre selling seats for so much down and so much a week the box office keeps the ticket until the final payment has been made. If the purpose is to induce people to hoard their movie pennies for a seat in the legitimate theatre, the plan will never work on Broadway. At the present prices of seats for Broadway hits most shows would close before the theatregoer had made the final payment on his ticket.

AFTER THE GOVERNORSHIP

LET THE ninety-four senators who are candidates for the presidency take heart, and gubernatorial aspirants for that office gnash their teeth. A student of public affairs has discovered that while the governorship is sometimes a stepping-stone to fame, usually it is a toboggan to political oblivion.

A study of the careers of 187 governors who were in office during the first decade of this century disclosed that only fifteen served in other public offices after vacating the governor's chair.

But the case for the governors is not quite as bad as this study makes it appear. The period chosen was before the direct election of United States senators, so the study does not consider twenty-three governors subsequently elected to the upper branch of congress. Nor have the chief executives of the states fared so ill when it comes to the highest office, as the careers of Cleveland, Roosevelt, Wilson and Coolidge attest.

Those who fail to reach the top rung of the ladder usually fall off it altogether when they leave the governor's office. This state could cite plenty of examples of the workings of this law, which is, after all, not unnatural.

Some are inclined to blame the "fickle public" for retiring a governor to private life, as it often does unjustly, but in many cases it is only natural that a man should regard the governorship as the summit of his public service, with which he is willing to rest content if the avenue to national preferment is not open to him.

AN UNCONQUERED PEST

WHEN campaigns are launched for the extermination of rabbits, birds and other wildlife, which have multiplied until they constitute a serious menace to crops, gardens and orchards, there are always some who object. In Pennsylvania the state game commission cannot persuade sportsmen to kill off surplus female deer.

There is no such protest at the launching of a movement for the extermination of the rat. This apparent inconsistency is due to man's loathing for the longtailed rodent and his love for the creatures of the forest, field and air. It is fortunate that he has no soft spot in his heart for the rat, for it would eat him out of house and home if given the protection of the least bit of sentiment.

France estimates her losses through rats at a billion francs a year. They cause a loss of many millions annually in every country. Calculations of the extent of their destructiveness are startling, and yet they probably fall far short of the actual loss.

Rat extermination is a problem universal enough and deemed serious enough to inspire an international conference at Havre in May. Every civilized country will be represented by men sent to teach and learn rat extermination. One thing they will learn is that the rat family will continue growing as long as rodents driven from one building can find another where they will be free from molestation.

Most of the folks who are talking about casting pearls are casting bokays at themselves.

It takes a lot of time to get this column up every day and it has to appear every day in the year. If we ever see anyone who can do it better than we can they get the job. Make all applications in writing and write only on one side of the paper. Better still submit some of your stuff so it will help us out.

It's a long time since we heard that song entiled "Bicycles Built for Two."

We hear a lot of remarks about narrowing the sidewalks on North Mercer street. Our good friend, Dr. Popp said "We do not need any sidewalks at all now as people don't walk three blocks any more." He's about right at that.

Prosperity Still Here.

Wall street observers still see signs of prosperity. Some of the indications mentioned being building contracts running ahead of a yaar ago, an increase of more than 400,000 tons in first quarter steel ingot output over the first quarter of 1927, new high records in automobile production by many companies, a gain of 15 per cent in chain store first quarter sales over a year ago, consumption of copper larger than ever, gasoline consumption 15 per cent ahead of a year ago and new high records in stock exchange transactions.

We saw a couple of aviators a few days ago and they had mud on their boots up to their knees. They must have been flying through the mud—or something.

We heard a bridge player advise against crossing a bridge partner before the blunt instruments are removed from sight.

A man in New Jersey was given the choice or going to jail for six months for killing a man or going to jail for three months and marrying the widow of the murdered man. We wonder what the extenuating circumstances were in that case.

We notice where there has been quite a political change in Chicago. About the only difference in the Chicago political gangs is that one might be just a little more liberal than the other or be able to shoot straighter and get a knife in a more vulernable spot.

A lot of the best nature poetry must be written by folks who never saw a "Moosy Dell."

"My goodness" remarked the old gentleman as he stopped the young lad with a fine catch of trout. "You've had a very successful day, young man. Where did you catch all these fish?"

"Just walk down the path marked 'Private,' and keep right on till you come to a notice, 'Trespassers will be prosecuted.' A few yards further on there's a fine pool in the river marked 'No fishing allowed,' and there you are sir!"

Glory or death awaits every flyer who attempts to fly across the ocean and it's been death to a great majority who have tried to make the fly so far.

One of the great dangers when a train hits an automobile at a crossing is when the gas tank of the auto explodes and the gas envelopes the engineer and fireman. We were riding on a train once when the engine struck an oil tank and the whole train was enveloped in flames in a minute. The train was stopped and a new engine crew had to be put on. People in half a dozen cars from the engine felt the heat.

Gov. Fisher will make a tour of Western Pennsylvania next week visiting institutions in which the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has financial interests, such as homes, hospitals, etc. If the governer would visit such places by just slipping in on them without notice he might get better insight into conditions. They are getting ready for him now.

I've felt the soft kiss of the southern breeze,
And heard the croning lullaby of the sighing leaves.
I've listened to the warble of the nightengale's song,
And watched the lazy clouds as they floated along.
I've nestled in the warmth of the southern sun,
As it heraids the day that has just begun.
I've seen the leaves turn gold and red,
To warn the south that the summer has fled.
I've stood in the cotton field white as snow,
And have seen it picked row upon row.
I've gazed into the mystery of swamp and lane,
But with a longing in my heart for the North again.
For the kiss of the wind that tingles my blood,
And the joyous songs of the birds I love.
The clouds that roll in the stormy breeze,
Echoing the notes of raging seas.
I want the joy of a moonlight night
With the tinge and thrill of a good frost bite,
I want to sleep the whole night through
And wake, Old North, where I'm HOME with you.

We often see some birds rushing across the grass plot on the postoffice grounds and we have watched some of them to see where they were rushing in such a hurry that they had to tramp down the struggling grass on that lawn. Quite a few rushed to the corner and stood there some time watching the men work on the new bank building.

There was quite a hubbub raised in New Jersey when a man lost a bank roll of fifty dollars and gave the boy who found it a talk on honesty and gave him a nickle for returning his money. We cannot see why one would want a reward for returning other people's property when they pick it up where the owner left it. They could leave it lay and the owner could get it when he came back for it. One time our little grandson found a big wad of money in a taxicab in Chicago and would not take a cent for returning it to the owner and that kiddie is going and has been the richer for it. It's a duty to return lost valuables to the owner and no reward should be expected.

Vehicles Must Not Blockade Crossings

Taxicabs, and to some extent private cars, continue to crowd forward on the crossing when the traffic light is against them. This blockades the path of those who are trying to cross on foot and have the signal in their favor.

Such hoggishness does not help even those who are guilty of it, because it means that additional time is needed before the crossing can be cleared.

Drivers of this sort should realize that they're acting just as much against the law as if they were driving on the sidewalk.

We are sill of the opinion and will ever be as long as we live that when society demands that a father be sent to jail for some of his misdeeds some provision should be made by society to take care of the motherless children he leaves to the mercy of the world. Nothing wrong about that, is there?

Professor Steinach of Vienna, who seeks to make old men young, when he ought to worry about making them useful, has a new invention.

Serum, made of the pituitary gland tucked away inside the skull, works wonders in rejuvenating aged rats. Animals, half dead, are made young.

Steinach should try that on Wall Street bears. They need it.

Another 4,000,000 share day, brokers getting out of bed loaded with overnight orders. 15,000 shares of General Motors was the first bite of one financial breakfast. On that one order two brokers made $3,750. No wonder stock exchange seats are traveling toward the $1,000,000 mark. "Buy 15,000 at the market," that's all, only six words.

Dr. Winifred Sackville Stoner, who is a lady, says "man is superior to woman, mentally, physically, artistically and psychologically."

That is not all true, especially the "physically and psychologically" part of it. But suppose it were all true. Michael Angelo's Moses is a finer product that Michael himself. But Michael Angelo made it.

Whatever a man is, some woman made him, and the producer is nobler than the product. Better be a cocoanut tree than a cocoanut.

Mr. Houghton, American ambassador, told London, "Henry Ford has made us see that high wages are an integral part of prosperity."

That is true, and it is Ford's great service to his age, next to making automobiles more plentiful than buggies.

The British were amazed when Henry Ford at a banquet in his honor made a speech containing only 29 words, his first speech.

Cromwell could make a speech in fewer words than that. The greatest statements are short. For instance, "Let there be light", or these 10 words, "Give light, and the people will find their own way."

Early Thursday in civilized Greater New York, Julius Rubin, 19, died. A few hours earlier in a prize-fight, a "blow to the jaw" knocked him to the floor, backward.

He is dead, and detectives are investigating. They might investigate, while they are about it, politicians that divide profits on prize-fights.

A railroad built by American, British, German and French engineers to connect the Persian Gulf with the Caspian Sea will cost $80,000,000. HOLDING THE RUDDER.

Seneca the old Roman said: "O Neptune, thou cans't save me if thou wilt or thou cans't drown me. But whether or not I will hold my rudder true."

We fearsome creatures waste so much nerve power in worrying about what is going to become of us. Once make up our minds to hold the rudder hard and true we may be saved or drowned—and in the long run that's nothing to fret about.

SCALE.

Our scale of personality, our rank among souls, depends on the breadth of our interests and on our visions. In William De Witt Hyde's most useful book "The Five Great Philosophies of Life" we read this: "Do you wish to know precisely where you stand in the scale of personality? Here is the test. How large a section of this world do you care for in such a vital, responsible way that you are thinking of its welfare, forming schemes for its improvement, bend-

Dr. Crane's Editorial

FOREST WEEK

Forest Week is the week of April Twenty-second.

It ought to be generally observed by tree planting by all schools and other organizations.

We do a great many things as organized bodies which, perhaps, may be questioned. Some there are who do not always agree with our conclusions. But there is hardly any dispute as to the value of trees.

Trees are the best friends of man and all who are interested in the future welfare of the race should do their part in tree planting.

Two foresters of an experiment station of the United States Department of Agriculture say:

"A proposal that the United States abandon one-sixth of her territory to foreign powers would be met with instant disapproval. Yet practically as great a loss in national wealth and income would be suffered if all the privately owned forest land of the country were allowed gradually to lapse into an idle, unproductive condition, the actual condition of many thousand square miles today, and if the forests of other countries were called upon to furnish the wood that American forests have hitherto produced."

Planting a tree may be a more indirect but hardly less effective way of showing one's patriotism than going to war. Forests mean much to the prosperity of a country and hence to its defense.

The report on the Mississippi flood says that while it does not minimize the efforts of engineers to build reservoirs and levees as flood preventive measures, yet the first thing of importance toward flood control is the conservation of the forests in the upper Mississippi Valley.

Idle waste land on farms should be used for the planting of trees. Over two millions acres of forest protection lands already approved by the National Forest Reservation Commission should be increased by almost six million acres more.

Educational programs for tree planting are now available and so is the Forestry Primer of the American Tree Association. Any school teacher can have a copy by writing for it.

This Forestry Primer in circulation has gone beyond any anticipation since the first 100,000 in 1926 were published.

Public opinion should be so influenced through our schools and through our press that the people will recognize the importance of trees. We should escape the fate of comparatively treeless China.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

BIRDS AND MUSIC

A gentle idling friend of mine is a student of nature, particularly of birds. He is a very interesting man and has the gift of making hours spent in his company pass very quickly. He was talking about birds recently and said:

"Everyone knows that the singing birds are always interested in harmonious music. The canary in the cage will listen to the human singer as she trills out an air and will, after the singer has finished, sing a song of its own, seeming often to try to outdo the soprano's voice. The mocking bird will imitate a song which it hears, but I have discovered that birds which do not sing are likewise attracted by music.

"I was sitting here not long ago playing some records on the Victrola when I noticed a humming bird poised just outside the screened window, near which the machine was located. The gauze wings were humming and the bird was absolutely stationary. There were no flowers near. When the music stopped the airy guest darted away across the lawn. I waited a few moments before I started another record into motion, but when the music floated out through the window again the bird appeared outside the screen. Again and yet again I experimented with the same result."

"Some time after this incident," he continued, "I was a listener at an open air afternoon Band Concert in the Park. You know there are a great many pigeons which make their home on the Plaza there. They do not wander far from the Plaza for there visitors constantly feed them. The Band platform is several hundred yards from the Plaza. When the music started I heard a whirring behind me and it seemed as if all the pigeons in the park had come to hear. The music stopped and the pigeons returned to the Plaza, only to reappear beside me when the Band again played. I believe that all birds enjoy good music."

This may be something new to others than myself. It should be interesting to experiment in the same line.

PHILOSOPHY

Old Socrates had much to say
He loved to play with words.
He'd prove in a most solemn way
That halves are more than thirds.
And searching the unchancing truth
He sat and talked away his youth.
He talked away his middle-age
And died a poisoned wise old sage.

Though Socrates is listed now
With all our honored great,
I often sit and wonder how
That old man dressed and ate.
While he his days in talking spent
Who earned the money for his rent?
While proving like, unlike is not,
Who bought the soup bone for the pot?

I see the plough boy in the field
The carter on his cart,
And think more happiness they yield
Than all the brilliant smart.
This world of ours has countless needs,
The grain is grown by planting seeds.
Little is done by spinning tales,
Man builds a house by driving nails.

While wise men sit and talk and talk,
The toilers everywhere
Are building roads for men to walk
And ships to fly the air.
Though words may have a sweeter sound,
Whene'er I hear the hammers pound
I know with every blow that rings
That men are busy doing things.

WHAT TO DO WITH LINDBERGH

The United States has few assets more valuable to it as a nation than Colonel Charles Lindbergh. Since the young man returned from Europe, his personality has been wisely capitalized for the nation's honor and good. The flight to and through the Central American and South American countries, and out among the islands, was a distinct diplomatic coup, worth millions of dollars to the country that sponsored the flight.

Now there is much talk about what to with the flying colonel. Possibly he has some plans of his own that the rest of us have no business to interfere with. But I, like millions of others, have an idea about how best to use this big national asset that is called Colonel Lindbergh.

Make him a full-fledged minister or ambassador to some foreign country.

I would start him in, for preliminary training, experience and opportunity, as minister to one of the Latin-American countries. He is fully competent, despite his youth or because of it?) to act as minister to Peru, Bolivia, Chile, Brazil or Argentina.

I would give him this appointment with the distinct understanding that it is intended as a beginning in a career of diplomacy and statesmanship, if Mr. Lindbergh feels that he would like such a career.

I would move him about from one country to another, giving him not more than a year and a half in any one small post. This would give the young man an opportunity to learn statecraft at first hand, in the only really effective school of statecraft—the school of experience and observation.

When Colonel Lindbergh had completed ten years of diplomatic service in the smaller countries, he would still be a very young diplomat, and he would be ready for a full ambassadorship to such important countries as Italy, France, Germany, Great Britain or Russia, if by that time we should be on speaking terms with Russia.

Lindbergh is the learning type. He would adapt himself to the foreign service very readily, and at forty he would be the most valuable man we could possess for preventing wars and taking care of the interests of the United States in other lands.

But I would not require Colonel Lindbergh to sacrifice his flying or his interest in aviation. Statesmanship and aviation are by no means incompatible. True, none of our ambassadors at present is an aviator. But there is only one Lindbergh. He could continue flying and attend to his duties as ambassador or minister. He could be, as he has been, one of our most useful citizens.

Mrs. Whitlatch Is Now An Inmate Of Industrial Home

Sheriff Reynolds Says Institution At Muncy Is A Wonderful Place

Sheriff and Mrs. H. M. Reynolds have returned from the Muncy Industrial Home in Lycoming county where they took Mrs. Ina Whitlatch, sentenced for manslaughter in connection with the death of her husband, William Whitlatch.

Sheriff Reynolds says that the Muncy Home is a wonderful place, where the inmates apparently have all the comforts that can be provided. It comprises 500 acres and is presided over by Mrs. Franklin Wilson.

The home was erected in 1916, and since that time has had 465 inmates. At present there are 116. Mrs. Whitlatch is the first person ever taken to the home from Lawrence county, and is the oldest person now in the institution. The home does not take inmates under 16 years of age.

Upon her arrival Mrs. Whitlatch was placed in the hospital where she will be kept for two weeks, while tests are being made to determine her physical condition.

Buildings on the farm, of which there are eight or ten are erected of Brownstone, are fireproof. They contain all the modern conveniences.

Women do the work on the farm, except the heavy work like plowing. They attend to raising the fruits and vegetables and can the same in a canning factory attached to the home. They also look after a herd of 40 Holstein cows, feed the pigs, chickens and other livestock, and in fact everything that is not too heavy for them.

In the commissary department Sheriff Reynolds found supplies of home grown smoked meats and a large amount of canned stuff.

The women are only allowed a visitor every three months, and are not permitted to write letters oftener than every two weeks. Most of the women in the institution are comparative young, being between the ages of 16 and 30.

HARLANSBURG W. C. T. U.

"The Religious Problem of the Foreigners in America" was the subject for discussion at the meeting of the Harlansburg W. C. T. U. Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Tillie Hilgard. Owing to the absence of the appointed leader, Mrs. Bertha Eakin had charge of the meeting and conducted the devotionals.

Glenn Thompson and Glenn Harlan each gave a recitation. Mrs. Helen Cameron discussed "The Foreign Born and Native Born Americans" and Mrs. Adella McClelland gave a talk on "The Air Ship for War or Peace". Mrs. Wimer, Mrs. Locke, Mrs. Brown, Miss Stunkard and Mrs. Sarah Harlan each read short articles relative to the subject.

A very interesting talk was given by Rev. Dickinson.

Mrs. Dight's membership was transferred from Plaingrove Union to the Harlansburg union. A short business session was conducted by the president. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Anna Hohmann, Miss Julia Harlan, Mrs. Bertha Brown and Mrs. Thompson. There were 26 members, 7 visitors and 4 children present.

The next meeting will be in the form of an institute at Liberty Grange hall the second Thursday in May. Ladies are asked to take lunch. Coffee will be served.

This Local Man Offering Praise For New Konjola

Says That This Medicine Relieved Him Of Kidney And Stomach Suffering.

MR. NEWTON A. GREEN
Seavy Photo

Konjola has already been a blessing to hundreds of people in New Castle and nearby towns. It has made men and women, in all walks of life, happy with the knowledge that life for them will no longer be one gloomy day after the other, suffering terrible miseries, but has given them the joy of living by banishing the common ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

One report after the other is being received by the Konjola Man at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington street, this city, from sufferers who have already been relieved of their health troubles. For instance, Mr. Newton A. Green, 307 Fern street, New Castle, made the following statement:

"I am entirely relieved of the terrible miseries of stomach and kidney trouble since I have completed a treatment of Konjola", said Mr. Green. "It was the first medicine to help me and I feel that such a remedy should be indorsed to the public.

"For a long time I have been in a completely rundown condition and although I tried all kinds of medicine I never could find one that would give me any relief. I suffered almost all the day from lumbago and it was almost impossible for me to do my work because of the severe pains. But the worst trouble was with my stomach which caused me misery after every meal. Large quantities of gas formed after I ate the least bit of food. I was told this was brought on by constipation and even the strongest laxatives failed to help me. During the night I would have to rise several times because of weak kidneys and all day I had awful headaches that were due to a sluggish liver. I was steadily losing in weight and felt bad all the time.

"I noticed in the papers that Konjola was recommended by many local people for such disorders as mine and I finally made up my mind to give this medicine a trial. The first two bottles gave me more relief than all the medicine I had taken. The new feelings of health that came over me surprised me and I didn't know what to make of it. The pains in my back from lumbago disappeared and I could do my work without suffering the least bit. As I continued with the treatment my stomach got better until finally I was able to eat anything that I wanted without the least bad result afterward. Konjola regulated my bowels and gave me free movement every day. My kidneys are stronger and I never have to get up during the night, and all the liver trouble is gone. Konjola has helped me in every way and I am feeling better than I have in many years.

"My wife also has been helped by this medicine and we both think it is a blessing to our home. We recommend it every chance we get.

The Konjola Man is at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

everything by listening only to those with whom you agree.

Much by listening exclusively to your own remarks.

Enough to be contemptuous of anybody's honest opinions.

Much from many, but you can learn something from everybody.

Life's lessons by running away from hardships.

All the truth about a man by listening to either his friends or his critics.

ing your energies towards its advancement.

"The magnitude of the ends you see and serve is the measure of your personality. Personality is not something you carry around in your spiritual pocket. It is an energy which is no whit larger or smaller than the ends it aims at and the work it does."

TIDES.

In an eastern state there is a little river that trickles into the sea. It is unimportant—except in those hours when the tide comes in. Then the little river becomes for a moment mighty. So with lives. We don't amount to much until some mind of spiritual force pours into us. That spiritual force—the tide—is summoned when we make a definite effort to relate ourselves to a great cause a great movement. And we have the advantage of the river. We have the capacity if we have the will, for keping the tide flowing through our lives constantly—not merely at intervals.

CHECKING UP.

Let's check up on ourselves and se if we are actively devoted to any large causes, tied up with any going concerns. Or are we just drifting along to a hole in the ground?

HORIZONS.

The horizon isn't where the sky comes down. The horizon is the limits of our own look. We set our own boundaries. We have the making of our horizons. We do not have to live in walled in spaces. The soul of man if it isn't contracted through fear can live in the limitless spaces of the universe.

Chamberlin Is Enthused Over German's Flight

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 14.—Characterizing the feat of the Bremen aviators as "one of the greatest in the history of aviation," Clarence D. Chamberlin who flew from New York to Germany, voiced his congratulations here when he learned the fliers were safe.

"I am overjoyed to learn that the members of the crew of the Bremen have safely landed at Point Armour, Nova Scotia. I congratulate the crew of the Bremen on being the first to sail by airplane from Europe to the North American continent. I am sorry they were prevented from reaching their destination, New York City, through misfortune," he said.

"The perils of their journey at this time of the year were great due to the uncertainty of the weather. I met Baron Von Huenefeld and Capt. Koehl while I was in Germany and because of the personal feeling I have for them I anxiously awaited news of their safety.

"Their achievement was one of the greatest in the history of aviation, attempt to perform it having claimed the lives of so many intrepid souls."

Chamberlin left here for Pittsburgh where he took a midnight train for New York. He will return early next week for his plane which is at Mayer field, Bridgeville.

Oil City Trains Being Taken Off

Service To New Castle To Be Discontinued Says Oil City Announcement

(International News Service)

OIL CITY, April 14.—After nearly a half century of continuous operation, passenger service between Oil City and New Castle, Pa., will cease April 29, officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad announced today. Improved highways and automobile and bus competition have made operation of trains between the two points unprofitable, it was said.

At the same time train No. 928, leaving Oil City for Pittsburgh at 11:59 a. m. will be changed to run only between Brad and Pittsburgh. This change was also made necessary by falling off in passenger business, local division officers said.

Find Five Flaws in This Picture, Boys and Girls, If You Want to Win One of Fifty Cash Prizes

There are certain times in the year when accidents in the home take more lives than do automobile crashes. Is your home a safe haven or a house of a hundred hazards? To encourage boys and girls to think more about preventing accidents right in their own homes, the National Safety Council offers fifty cash prizes to students in public, private and parochial, elementary, preparatory and high schools for the best essays pointing out five flaws in the above picture.

The awards: First prize, $25; second prize, $10; third prize, $5; four prizes of $2 each, five prizes of $1 each and thirty-eight prizes of $1 each.

Boys and girls with bright eyes shouldn't have much difficulty in perceiving five faults with this scene, as there is nothing concealed. It isn't necessary to seek for hidden flaws or to turn the picture upside down. The hazards are right before your eyes.

Contestants may talk to their parents about the incorrect features of this kitchen scene but each composition must be original. Kindly limit your essay to not more than 300 words. Entries must be plainly identified. Each composition should present, in the upper left-hand corner of the sheet of paper used, the full name, age and grade of the pupil and the name and address of the student's school. Be sure to give your school's complete address, street, city and state. Some of the children who entered the previous contest conducted by the council failed to follow these instrictions and therefore lost their chance of winning a prize. No entries will be returned. This contest will close on July 1, 1928. All entries will be acknowledged. Compositions should be addressed to the Picture Puzzle Contest Director, National Safety Council, 108 East Ohio street, Chicago.

How To Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENE RUBINSTEIN

General Reducing Rhythmics.

Now that we have taken the high points of reducing, emphasizing special needs and conditions I shall take this opportunity of outlining a general reduction regime .For the first exercise Mordkin's "Pass de Bouree." This must be done to music first step forword for eight counts, then in one count turn, change your step in three short divisions of a beat and resume the regular march step. After you do it easily change your step on every third count and speed up the music until you're going very quickly.

Cross the right leg over the left leg and quickly bend the knees. Go back to the original position and reverse. Repeat 16 times.

Bring the entire weight of the body on one leg. Slide with the other foot backward and forward. Change the step on a 1-2-1 beat—the three divisions of one count you did for the "Pas de Bouree" do this16 times. Then put on a good marching record. After each step forward stiffen all your muscles, counting four beats to each step. Repeat this exercise going backward and forward.

Then strengthen the muscles of your knees, lower the body, holding spine very straight—a simple knee exercise, count eight while the knees are bent and straighten out very slowly. Repeat six times.

Next, for agility and reducing throw one knee up counting four, then the other knee. Repeat eight times on each foot.

For the upper arm. Stretch the arm on the level with the shoulder and turn the hand slowly around as far as it will go. Repeat to the other extreme. This exercise will strengthen the muscles of the upper arm without developing it ungracefully and firm the flesh.

For reducing the calf rise on the toes, holding the position as long as possible then bend the knees quickly and rise on the toes again.

These are the simplest steps of the Rubenstein-Mordkin Rhythmics and they are so planned to distribute their good effects all over the body.

Banished Klansmen May Take Evidence To Federal Court

May Place Evidence Before Federal Court To Have Charter Revoked

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 14.—Decision as to whether the five "banished" Klansmen will carry evidence introduced in federal court here, charging crimes of all descriptions to the Ku Klux Klan, to state authorities in an effort to have the Klan's charter in Pennsylvania revoked, will be made Monday, Van A. Barrickman, counsel for the group and one of the former defendants, said today.

The $500,000 damage suit brought by the Klan against the five banished members was dismissed by Judge W. H. E. Thomson, yesterday, in a decision which scored the society as a "lawless organization." The counter suit brought by the "banished" group had previously been dismissed by the court.

Barrickman is at present engaged in reviewing the case, he said, and has not conferred with his associates relative to further action. He termed the decision of the court in the dismissed Klan case "very expressive."

To Give Recital On "Dybbuk" In Beth Shalom Center

Mrs. Eugene Kohn Of Youngstown To Give Interpretation Of Play

Under the auspices of the local chapter of Hadassah a recital will be given in Beth Shalom Center Sunday evening, April 15. At this time Mrs. Eugene Kohn of Youngstown will present the story of "Dybbuk" interpreting the play act by act in a professional and impressive manner.

The entertainment is being given for the benefit of the Hadassah Health program in Palestine. Each year the New Castle Chapter holds a sheet shower for the Hadassah Medical organization. Mrs. Jack Frank is in charge of the collection of sheets this year.

The story of "Dybbuk" is founded on folk lore. "Dybbuk" means a vagrant soul that wanders through the universe until it enters the body of some living thing or person. Those who hear the recital will have a better appreciation of "Anahys" the Russian author who first produced the play through the acting of the Hadassah player from Moscow.

An added attraction of the evening will be several selections by the young violinist, Burdette Callahan who will be accompanied on the piano by his mother, Mrs. S. J. Callahan.

Mine Foreman Escapes Death By Presence Of Mind

PUNXSUTAWNEY, April 14.—Thomas Madden, mine foreman for the A. L. Light mine near this city, saved his arm and his life by his presence of mind late last night when it became caught in the cogs of the mine pumping machinery. He went into the slope alone to start the pumps. His sleeve became caught in the cogs and his left arm drawn into the gears.

With quick presence of mind he dropped his handkerchief over an electric feed wire to the pump, gave a quick pull and disconnected it, stopping the machinery. He managed to get with his foot a wrench near the pump close enough to grasp it with his hand and pry the cogs sufficiently to release his pinioned arm. He walked to a physician's office where he had 19 stitches placed in the lacerated limb between the elbow and wrist.

Ballots In Vare Election Cast Here May Yet Be Counted

Lawrence county ballots cast in the Vare Wilson senatorial contest, which were impounded in the county jail when a contest over the election was started, may yet be counted.

Senator-elect Vare yesterday presented to the Waterman sub-committee at Washington a petition asking that the ballots cast in 31 counties in addition to those already counted, be procured and counted. Most of the counties named are in the western end of the state and include Lawrence.

Vare claims that he believes that he was deprived of many votes in the 31 counties to which he was legally entitled.

A bomb was exploded in Place Julius Caesare, Milan, just before the king's arrival to inaugurate a trade fair, and Berne reported a bomb found on the railroad tracks near Como, Italy, where Mussolini's train was to pass.

Good Records In School Attendance Made By Pupils

Over Sixteen Hundred Will Receive Perfect Attendance Certificates

There are 1605 pupils in Lawrence county schools having perfect attendance during 1927 and 1928 term of school, according to reports made to County Superintendent John C. Syling.

Of this number 890 have been neither absent nor tardy and will receive certificates. The other 715 have had perfect attendance in former years and will receive seals for their certificates. The certificates and seals have been ordered and will be sent out as soon as received.

In view of the fact that many of the pupils in country schools have long distances to go to school, and taking into consideration the weather condition, the records made during the past year are remarkably good.

There were hundreds of other pupils who have excellent records, but who did not come within requirements entitling them to the perfect attendance certificates.

New Wilmington

Before the annual congregational business meeting of the local Presbyterian church held in the church last night, the members of the congregation held a social supper.

The main question considered at the meeting was whether or not the church should enlarge its governing board. The reports of the church treasurer and of the various church branches including the Sunday school, the young people's organization and the Women's Missionary societies were given by the respective officers.

Several new trustees were also elected at the meeting.

Yesterday afternoon, the funeral services for the late Mrs. McNair were held in her home north of town. Rev. Ralph J. Neale, pastor of the local United Presbyterian church performed the funeral services. A quartette sang an appropriate selection.

After the service the party rode to Fair Oaks cemetery where the interment was made.

With the coming of spring, the local organization of Camp Fire Girls of which Miss Marion Hartwell is president is again becoming active. The college town girls are now conducting financial drives, the proceeds from which they will use this summer in connection with their camping arrangements.

Again Monday evening the local Rotary club will meet in the Methodist church where the supper will be served by the women of the church. At this meeting plans will probably be made concerning the local representation at the Rotary convention to be held in New Castle, April 25-27. Routine business will also be taken care of.

Name Judges For School Contest

Western Pennsylvania Schools To Contest At Grove City On May 3

(Special To The News)

C., as judges of the instrumental contests; Claude Rosenberry, state director of music of Harrisburg, will judge the vocal events; Dr. Will Earhart, director of music in the Pittsburgh schools, will judge both instrumental and vocal. Foster's Weather Prognostication

WASHINGTON, April 14.—A storm wave of severe intensity is expected to cross continent during week centering on April 14, moving farther south than usual, reaching well down into southern states; this storm wave will cause rather heavy precipitation generally over the continent, principally on central and northern Pacific coast, near meridian 90 from lakes to gulf and along Atlantic coast; this storm center will occur during a general warm wave, but storm center will be followed by a rapid drop in temperatures that will probably be a cold wave in central and northern latitudes and in mountain country, making favorable conditions for severe local storms as cool wave moves eastward. Period centering on 14 will not be as favorable for planting as will last week of month; not particularly on account of the new moon which falls on April 20, but due to last week being warmer and drier than previous periods of month.

Storm wave expected to cross continent during week centering on 21 will be of mild force; the principal weather feature of this storm wave will precede it centering on 19, when frost will be expected to move well down out of the north; also favorable weather for hail and sleet in central and northern latitudes near 19; heaviest frost during this period will be expected in sections 2 and 4, eastern part of 1 and 3, northeast part of continent.

Electro-Magnetism.

The world famed and muchly credited Carnegie ship is starting on a new three-year cruise; in this day of discovery and invention, it would be impossible to even guess what such learned men, with every modern aid, will be able to tell us at the end of three years' research. This expedition will probably give little time to efforts to connect electro-magnetic or other free moving force and their variations to atmospheric changes or "weather", but possibly, in their study of free magnetic force, for which their ship is especially built and equipped, and in the study of earthquakes, to which they are to give some time, they may find connection between these two subjects that cannot be ignored. Fosters have never been able to reconcile their convictions with those of leading orthodox scientists regarding earthquakes and their causes. That there is an adjustment within the earth's crust, an equalizing of strains within that so-called crust during the majority of seismic disturbances is beyond doubt, but that such an adjustment could cause the atmospheric conditions present in the vicinity of a quake, preceding, during and following the actual shaking of the earth in that vicinity is very doubtful. During the average seismic disturbance, not of volcanic origin, an area of unusually low barometric pressure will be found close by and magnetic force agitated and above normal in vicinity of quake. The cause of starting the majority of earthquakes is within the atmosphere; correction of fault, slipping of strata, equalizing of strains, local vibration of earth are all results.

PETER'S ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

KINGBIRD CLAIMS THE HONOR

"KERR-R-R-! WHAT IS THIS I HEAR? I AM KING!" SCREAMED A SHRILL VOICE.

Mrs. Oven Bird gave a sharp little peck at her husband's coat.

Mr. Oven Bird shook his crowned head angrily and in a moment before he really knew how it happened the little husband and wife had forgotten all about how dearly they really loved each other and were scrapping as hard as they could.

Peter did not know what to do. If the matter had not been so serious he would have laughed—the two little Oven Bird did look so comical hopping about in circles and scolding each other at the top of their voices.

"Kerr-r-r! Kerr-r-r!" shrill and sudden a sharp cry rang out close by. The Oven Birds heard it and in the twinkling of an eye stopped their wrangling and ran for their home as fast as their long legs would carry them, the little lady in the lead. Through the doorway of the oven they scrambled and the boy was left alone.

"Kerr-r-r! Kerr-r-r! What is all this I hear? Eagle king? Absurd! Wren king? Ridiculous! I am king. There is no doubt at all about it."

Peter had jumped up from the stone at the first sharp scream and with these last words a bird alighted upon the spot he had vacated. The newcomer's beak was large and sharp and hooked at the base, and looked almost as cruel as Butcher Bird's had. He was dressed in good taste, was this newcomer. With a slate colored coat he wore a white vest and there was a wide band of white upon the tip of his tail. But it was his crest that was the most startling thing about him.

The bird seemed to be in a bad humor, and kept ruffling up the feather on his head, and every time he did it he showed a topknot as red as fire.

"No doubt about it at all!" repeated the fierce fellow, and Peter thought it best not to argue with him.

"Of course not!" agreed the boy. "You look like a bird of your word. Who did you say you were?"?

"You heard me!" The newcomer was quite rude. "I am King. I just told you so."

"Yes, yes, of course. But I mean what is your name?"

"Everybody calls me Kingbird. My, but you are so stupid. This is the third time I have told you that. If you mean my last name, though, that is a different matter. It is long and ugly and I hardly ever use it. It is hard to remember, too. Let me see if I can think of it. Tyranninae! There, do you know any more than you did? I'll bet anything that you will never think of it again. Why not forget it and just think of me as Kingbird the Flycatcher?"

Arrest Man In Effort To Pass Worthless Check

Police Officers Take Stranger Into Custody At New Castle Bank

In the arrest here today shortly before noon of a man, who claims to be Frank Amari, aged 24, of Wilkinsburg, Pa., by Officer Thomas Jones, the police believe that they have arrested a man who has been working banks of this section of the country in a clever manner.

This man entered the People's Savings and Trust company bank shortly before 11 o'clock this morning and presented a check for $50 for deposit. After making the deposit, he wanted to draw out $35.

He was delayed while the bank got in communication with the bank on which the check was drawn and it was found that he had no money on deposit in the bank the check was drawn on, police state.

Officer Jones was notified and arrested the man, before he had an opportunity to get away.

When taken to the police station, he was found to have $274 in cash on his person and it is the opinion of the local police authorities that he has been carrying on a scheme like that tried here, on other banks with considerable success.

He is being held on a technical charge of suspicion, while the police make inquiries of surrounding cities and towns to determine whether or not the same kind of a job has been attempted elsewhere recently.

The man was born in Italy, but has been in this country for some time and is rather a smooth appearing person and has considerable evidence of superior intelligence.

Newton Writes Of Dilks' Condition

Few, If Any Men, Will Be Able To Beat Him Says Trainer

Explanation of the reason for the slow time of Earle Lin Dilks for the past few days, and the opinion that the great runner, Arthur Newton, has of Dilks' ability is shown in the following letter that Mrs. Dilks received today from Arthur Newton, who is acting as trainer for several of the runners since he was forced to fall out of the race some time ago.

SAYRE, Okla., April 9, 1928.

Dear Mrs. Dilks:

Mr. Dilks has been having a bad time with his leg and has been obliged to do a lot of walking in order to give it a chance of recovering. You will be pleased to hear that the thing is almost right again, practically all the swelling having disappeared. But Mr. Dilks knows as well as I do that he will have to go carefully for several days yet, if he is to avoid an immediate recurrence of the trouble.

Fortunately, at this early stage of the game, place is of little or no consequence. There is no doubt that once he is able to travel again in his usual style there are very few men, if any, that can beat him, and besides he has the training and experience, which the younger men lack, and as you know, these count a great deal in a race of this description.

Very truly yours,
ARTHUR NEWTON.

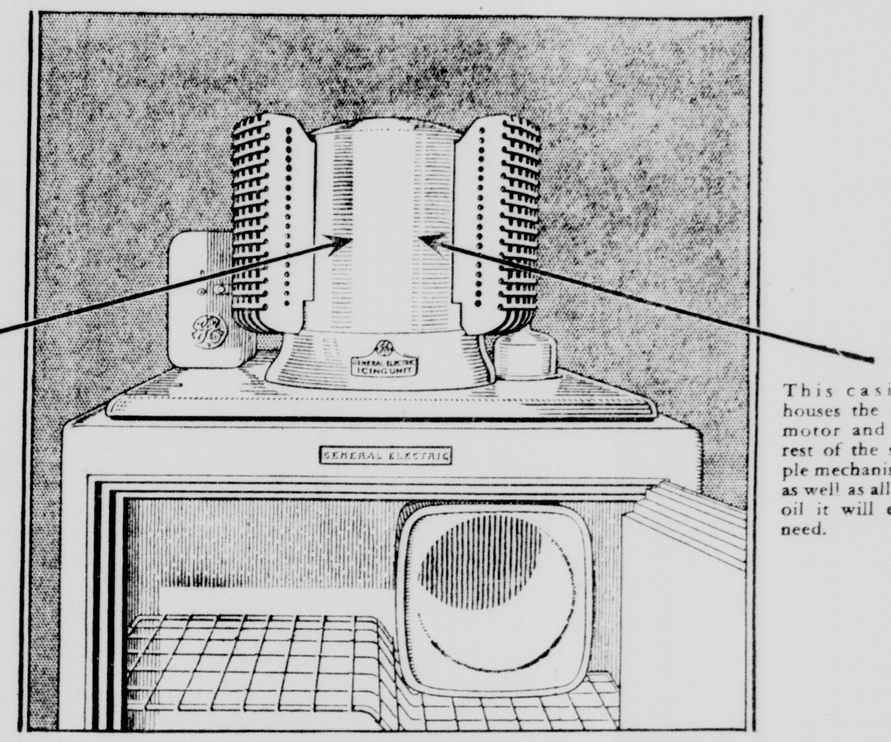
VERDICT

Here's the unique feature revolutionary—but so simple!



What little machinery there is, is all enclosed inside this hermetically sealed steel casing indicated in the diagram.

This casing houses the tiny motor and the rest of the simple mechanism—as well as all the oil it will ever need.

GENERAL ELECTRIC Refrigerator

The hermetically sealed steel casing, indicated by the arrows, houses all the machinery of the General Electric Refrigerator. It also contains all the oil this machinery, and the tiny motor which operates it, will ever need to protect them from wear.

The engineers and scientists of General Electric worked for fifteen years to develop a refrigerator that would be thoroughly efficient and virtually trouble-proof.

By the very nature of the design, the entire responsibility for satisfactory performance rests with the manufacturer. Every part of the machinery is built, tested and retested in the General Electric factory. The assembled mechanism is sealed in this electrically welded casing. It is then put through a final test. You never see the machinery—we never see it. No one is responsible for it except General Electric and they guarantee its absolute efficiency.

When the refrigerator is delivered, all you need do is plug the cord into any electric outlet—just as you do your fan. Automatically, quietly, economically, this mechanism which you never see and need never think about, gives you perfect refrigeration.

Time payments can be arranged, if you prefer.

THE MOTOR CODE

HARRY M. LONG
Candidate for General Assembly

"The Motor Code" passed by the last legislature is the biannual effort of the legislature on automobiles. Every two years since automobiles came into general use the legislature has passed laws regulating their use. It would seem that by this time this law should be established. But the present law seems to be poorer than any of the others.

This law, among other things, accomplishes the following results:

It reduces the maximum imprisonment for driving while intoxicated from three years to three months.

It provides the same fine for driving after a license has been revoked as it does for a "drunken driver".

It provides that sheriffs, constables and other officers must be in uniform and show evidence of their authority before making arrests "on view" for violations including "drunken driving".

It provides that if arrest in not "on view" it may be by warrant, whereupon a copy of the information must be furnished the law breaker, and so many other technical provisions must be compiled with that many guilty persons escape all punishment.

The present member of the legislature from the New Castle district, voted for this act known as "The Motor Code" during the 1927 session.

If nominated and elected to the legislature I will insist that the Motor laws be thrashed out and revised, the new law to provide stiffer fines and imprisonment for "drunken drivers", and our sheriffs and constables not required to be in uniform before arresting a "drunken driver" and other violators "on view".

Wants $50,000 As Result Of Fall At Cascade Park 'Whip'

Marie Cropper Claims That Machine Was Started While She Was Getting On

Marie Cropper of Pittsburgh has filed a suit in court against Bert St. Clair of New Castle for $50,000 damages as a result of an accident on an amusement called, "The Whip" at Cascade park on May 30, 1927.

Plaintiff alleges that she was in the act of getting on one of the cars operated by the defendant, when the machinery was suddenly started, with the result that she was thrown violently against the side of the machine, receiving internal and external injuries.

She claims that her injuries are of a permanent character and greatly interfere with her duties of housekeeping. It is alleged that the operator of the machine was negligent in starting the cars before she was seated.

Two Children Are Struck By Cars But Are Not Seriously Injured

In the several automobile accidents reported to the police in the past few hours, there were two children hit and injured by automobiles, although neither of the victims appears to have been seriously injured.

Mrs. Nellie Ray, 514 Winter avenue, was driving south on Atlantic avenue north of the Polish church and in the Oakland district, when Mary Louise Wiech, aged 10, of 70 Bluff street, was struck by the headlight of the Ray machine as she crossed the street. She was going from the east side to the west side of Atlantic avenue at the time. She was knocked to the ground but was able to get up herself. She was taken to the office of a physician by Mrs. Ray, where it was found that her injuries apparently consisted of but a few scratches on the face and the cutting of her tongue. She was then taken home.

A. C. Miller, Jr., of Edenburg, R. D. reported Friday afternoon, about four o'clock that he was driving the car of W. W. Duff of Leasure avenue, north on North Liberty street at Madison avenue, when Marian Tackett, of West Cherry street, crossing from east side to the west side of Liberty street, was struck and knocked to the pavement by his machine. School children helped to pick up the girl and she was taken to the office of a physician, where it was found that her injury apparently consisted of a slight wound on the thigh. She was taken from the doctor's office to her home by school companions.

L. Reneker, 1250 State street, reported Friday that he was driving east on East Washington street following the car of William Logan of 506 Riverview avenue, when the latter suddenly made a left hand turn without signal and his machine ran into and damaged the car of L. Reneker.

Carl Shellenberger of 619 Raymond street, reported Friday that he was driving the truck of Frank Wyman east on East Washington street and had stopped for the light at the Public Square, and on receiving the green signal, turned north on North Jefferson street. Radio Corporation Is Seeking Permission To Install Transmitters

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 14 — Another complication in the government's plan for distribution of short wave lengths to commercial and private radio operators, developed Friday when the Radio Corporation of America applied to the Federal Radio Commission for licenses to operate sixty-five high frequency transmitters scattered throughout the country.

The Radio Corporation, according to the application, proposes to establish a wireless communication system which virtuall will parallel the wire lines of the country, giving all large cities direct radio communication with United States and foreign countries.

Similar proposals have been made by the Postal Telegraph Company, the Inter-City Radio Telegraph Company, of Cleveland, and the Universal Wireless Communications, Inc., of New York. The commission announced that no action had been taken on any of the applications but that they would be considered in connection with other short wave licenses.

Central stations will be located by the RCA in New York, San Francisco, Chicago, and New Orleans, with sub-stations in twenty-four other cities, provided the commission grants the licenses the corporation made a national survey of the distribution of radio and telegraph traffic, prior to seeking the licenses.

The Diary of a New Yorker

By CLARK KINNAIRD

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

NEW YORK, April 14—Broadway is never without its Big Spender. The gentleman who fills the role, currently, is Frederick Perry, visiting owner of American-patronized resorts in Cuba.

Like the famous Diamond Jim Brady, he thinks it's lots of fun being a sucker if you can afford it. The way he is flinging money around is the talk of Times Square.

Leaving Texas Guinan's club the other morning, he distributed $500 bills to a solo singer, the orchestra leader and the headwaiter, and specie of other eye-popping denominations to lesser owners of itching palms.

Deems Taylor, composer of the most successful American opera, "The King's Henchman", is in Paris, composing another, but he isn't living off of the royalties of his music. A hundred or two dollars each time the Metropolitan produces "The King's Henchman," which is infrequently, is all that he receives for adding an American to the list of enduring operatic composers, although every performance of the piece is crowded.

On the other hand, Billy Rose, who isn't 30 yet, has made as much as $75,000 a year from his songs, which include "Barney Google," "Don't Bring Lulu," "You've Gotta See Mamma Every Night or You Can's See Mamma at All," and a score of others. Rose specializes on novelty songs. He started writing them while private secretary to Bernard Baruch, the financier himself.

The buds are bursting on trees in 139th street, between 7th and 8th avenues, where there is more overhanging foliage than in any other Manhattan block. The conventions regulating residence in this block are very strict. Children are not permitted to be noisy. Newspaper hawkers, peddlers, solicitors and such are barred. Persons are not allowed to move in the daytime. Deliveries must be made by rear alleys. Dwellers must not lean out of their windows. Music and loud talking are banned after midnight. Only doctors or lawyers may have designations on their houses and other signs, and stores and shops are prohibited.

This block is better known as Striver's Row ("You have to strive to get there, and you have to strive to stay there"). It is the Park avenue of Harlem's negro aristocracy.

Harry Hershfield reports that a merchant in Rivington street keeps record of all impending weddings, and after the honeymoons are over goes around and buys up the duplicates at his own price!

HARLANSBURG

W. C. T. U. MEETING.

The W. C. T. U. met at Mrs. Tillie Hilgers last Thursday with a fine attendance. Mrs. W. J. Eakin was the leader. The program included

Song, Some Glad Day, by unlon.

Recitations by Glen Harlan and Glen Thompson.

Reading by several members on Religion and Politics of the Foreigners and Missionary Application.

Rev. Dickenson gave an interesting talk on imigration.

The president took charge of the meeting and after a short business session the meeting closed by singing "Advice to the Drys" or "Get Out Your Vote."

A delicious luncheon was served.

HARLANSBURG NOTES.

Mr. and Mrs Bell have returned from Florida where they spent the winter in Miami, except the last month when they crossed to Ft. Myers and visited all important places on both coasts of Florida. They same home via Washington, Annapolis and Baltimore.

Mrs. Oscar Harlen spent Friday in New Castle.

Mrs. Sarah J. McConnell is staying with her daughter Mrs. Everett McConnell.

Boyd Rumbaugh and daughter of Butler, Ed Rumbaugh and family of New Castle, Tom Rumbaugh and family of Grove City spent Sunday with their father and grandfather.

Mrs. Laura Strawhecker is very ill at this writing.

School Children Save Over $2000

Arthur McGill School Has Highest Average For Past Month

The boys and girls of the New Castle schools saved $2,064.98 in pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters during the month of March, according to report made by Robert M. Strickler Jr., who has charge of the thrift system for the Lawrence Savings & Trust Company.

The Arthur McGill school had the best average saving for the month of March, as they averaged 36c per pupil. The Highland school and the West Side school tied for second place with an average saving of 35c per pupil, while the Oak street school was third with an average saving of 27c per pupil. The following are the other schools in their order:

Rose avenue school, 23c per pupil, Thaddeus Stevens school, 22c per pupil, North street school, 17c per pupil, Benjamin Franklin Junior High school, 15c per pupil; Lawrence school, 14c per pupil, Mahoning school, 12c per pupil, Terrace avenue school, 9c per pupil, Aiken school, 8c per pupil, Croton avenue school, 7c per pupil, and the Pollock avenue school, 6c per pupil.

Especially worthy of mention is the Shenango township school. They had the record for the total amount saved for the month, as $264.44 went through the machine in pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters. The Shenango township school at East New Castle is a thrifty and wide-awake school and has done unusually well since the machines have been installed there.

The North Beaver township school saved $104.10 for the month of March, while the Union township school saved $76.23.

Noted Educator Well Known Here Dies On Stage

O. T. Corson Drops Dead While Addressing Meeting At Columbus, O., Today

SUPT. J. C. SYLING EXPRESSES REGRETS

Has Been Here At Institutes Many Times; Engaged For Present Year

Lawrence county school teachers will be shocked to learn of the sudden death of O. T. Corson aged 69 while addressing a meeting of the Ohio State University chapel at Columbus, O., this morning according to an International Press dispatch received by the News.

When informed of Mr. Corson's death by the News, County Superintendent of Schools John C. Syling expressed deep regret. We have had Dr. Corson at teacher's institutes here for the past three years" said he "and I had engaged him for the institute this year.

"Dr. Corson was one of the greatest if not the greatest institute instructor in the United States. I am certainly shocked to hear of his death and I know that the teachers of the county will experience a like feeling.

Dr. Corson has appeared at Lawrence county institutes for many years previous to the three successive years mentioned above. He was a man of charming personality. His talks were of a practical character.

He had been a country school school teacher himself. He knew the many vexing problems that beset the teacher especially the young. He explained how to meet these problems in such a kindly interesting way, that teachers always felt inspired by his talks.

Dr. Corson was a former state superintendent of schools in Ohio. Previous to occupying that position he had been a leading figure in education circles not only in Ohio but throughout the country at large.

Since retiring from the state superintendency he has devoted his time to educational work in addressing teachers institutes and other educational meetings. The country loses a most valued educator in the death of Dr. Corson.

TROUT SEASON OPENS MONDAY

Unless Heavy Rainfall Appears Trout Streams Should Be In Good Condition

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 14.—Unless there is a period of heavy rainfall before Monday morning, the majority of the trout streams of the state should be in good condition for the opening of the season, Commissioner of Fisheries N. R. Buller said today.

Commissioner Buller returned this week from a personal inspection of a majority of the better known trout streams of the state. Despite recent heavy rainfall, few of the larger mountain streams are too high for good bait fishing, Buller said.

During the present year 200,000 trout of legal size were distributed in the larger streams. Last year 1,300,000 trout from five to seven inches in length were placed in the streams. Under the present plan of distribution by which trout are held in the hatcheries until they are large enough to survive in the mountain streams, Buller believes it is possible to get the best results from stocking.

The limit on trout is 25 and in one day and each must be at least six inches in length. Fishermen must be licensed and may use only a rod and line in taking trout.

Junction Moved To Place Accessible To Autos, Beyond Mt. Jackson Bridge

Starting with Sunday, April 29, passenger service over the Shuttle train of the Pennsylvania Railroad from the West Side station to Lawrence junction will be discontinued and passengers will be transported by motor bus to the new location of the junction immediately north of Montgomery avenue or just where the Pennsylvania Railroad crosses the Mahoning river.

The railroad company have adopted the new name in cooperation with the policy of the civic organizations of New Castle in the "Boost New Castle" movement.

The old location at Lawrence Junction is not accessible to motor or other vehicles but the new location may be reached easily by autos over the improved streets of the city and by crossing the Mt. Jackson bridge, the new location being just beyond the bridge along the Pennsylvania railroad tracks beyond where they cross the Mahoning river.

(International News Service)

President Hindenburg telegraphed to Koehl congratulating him upon the success of his venture.

"Heartiest congratulations to the daring ocean fliers on their great success—Von Hindenburg, Reichstag President."

Transportation Minister Koch wired Prof. Junkers, designer and manufacturer of the Bremen—"The great flying triumph which Koehl achieved was made possible only through the excellence of the airplane and motor you built. Congratulations to your fellow worker."

Chancellor Marx also congratulated Koehl in the following cable: "Hearty congratulations to the first European fliers to succeed in flying across the ocean from east to west. Our joy is all the greater because this triumph was due to German technique and German daring. Through them Germany transmits to the American people her greetings as an expression of spiritual union and friendship."

Other leaders throughout the country hailed the flight as enhancing German prestige, courage and mechanical excellence.

CITY FIREMEN HAVE TWO CALLS FRIDAY

City firemen had two calls Friday. One was to the rear of 220 Bluff street, where grass was on fire and was burning up against the barn of J. F. Mitchell, when the firemen were called by an alarm from box 611. The fire had been beaten out before the firemen reached the scene.

A still alarm called the chief and an assistant to the office of Olive Miller Cummins over the Hanover Shoe Store Friday. Smoke could be seen and there was an odor as of burning wood. Investigation developed the fact that it probably came from some of the smoke thrown into the air in the vicinity.

Ice Breaker Half Way To Island

Expected To Reach Greenely Island By Dawn Of Sunday

(International News Service)

MONTREAL, April 14.—Crashing through the ice in the gulf of St. Lawrence on its mission of rescue, the Canadian government boat Montcalm was half-way this afternoon to Greenely island, Labrador, where the trans-Atlantic fliers and their Junkers plane Bremen are stranded.

The Montcalm is expected to complete the 280-mile voyage by dawn tomorrow morning. The ice-breaker plans to bring the German-Irish trio of airmen out of their isolation to a waiting world some time on Monday.

Meanwhile, two planes from the Transcontinental Canadian Airways were ready to hop from Murray bay to the Straits of Belle Island to rescue the trans-Atlantic aviators. A blizzard throughout the Murray bay region was retarding the hop-off of the rescue machines.

Duke Schiller, aviation ace, formerly of Detroit, said that the spring break with resultant ice floes made it impossible for a flying boat to take off. An attempt for land planes to take off may be made late today, it was said.

(International News Service)

LEBOURGET AIRDROME, Paris, April 14—A radiogram from Marseilles this afternoon stated that Dieudonne Costes and Joseph Lebrix had hopped off today on the last leg of their long flight from Tokio to Paris.

Although the airmen were not expected here until about 7 o'clock, a huge crowd began gathering shortly after noon. There were 20,000 people at the flying field.

After taking off from Marseilles at 2:45 the plane had to land because of breaking a wing support. It was hastily repaired and the airmen hopped off for the second time at 3 o'clock.

Kellogg's World-Wide Treaty Is Extended To All Leading Nations

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The United States Friday submitted to the governments of Great Britain, Germany, Italy and Japan the proposal of Secretary of State Kellogg for a world-wide treaty renouncing war as an instrument of national policy.

With the approval of France, the American ambassadors at London, Rome, Berlin and Tokyo presented to the respective governments all the correspondence which has passed between France and the United States relative to the suggestion of Foreign Minister Briand of France, that France and the United States sign such a treaty between themselves.

The Briand proposal was made last June. Kellogg suggested the principle be extended to all nations.

"The government of the United States desires to see the institution of war abolished and stands ready to conclude with the French, British, German, Italian and Japanese governments a single multilateral treaty, open to subsequent adherence by any and all other governments, binding the parties thereto not to resort to war with one another," said identic notes submitted to each government.

The proposed treaty, a draft of which accompanied the correspondence, would be self-perpetuating.

Establish Detour On East Brook Road

Old Route May Be Used For Several Weeks Yet Says Contractor

A detour is being established by the State Highway Department on the East Brook-Volant road that is being constructed by the Woods and Golder Construction Company, but the old route will be available for travel until the pouring of concrete begins, which will be several weeks yet, according to H. E. Golder, general manager of the construction company.

Detour signs are being erected on the route. The route of detour is marked by the State Highway Department and begins about a tenth of a mile west from the end of the macadam road east of East Brook, and turning to the north near the residence of Mrs. Samuel Patterson follows the route to Neshannock Falls to the farm of T. J. McKnight, where it takes a route east, intersecting with the new state road at the William Walton farm. This route is nearly all ashed, a number of trucks now hauling ashes and expect to have it finished before the detour need be used.

Another detour available for those accustomed to come through East Brook from the Perry Highway at Leesburg is to turn south at the foot of the Wilson hill and going south past the East Brook U. P. church to the Harlansburg-New Castle road just east of McCaslin. This route has also been ashed or will be completed before needed for detour.

Mr. Golder said that it would be several weeks before they would start to pour concrete and that the old route would likely be available for travel until that time. He stated that they would start to pour concrete at the far end of the portion to be improved this summer near the Frank Alborn farm.

Gets His Patent After Five Years

New Castle Man Is Granted Long Delayed Patent On Pottery Making

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, April 14.—After waiting nearly five years Albert R. Radford of New Castle, Pa., today has his patent for a pottery-making method.

Radford filed his patent application October 1, 1923. Announcement has just been made that the patent has been granted. The patent has not been assigned for manufacture.

Officially the invention is described as follows:

"A method of decorating pottery consisting in kneading together a plurality of masses of plastic clay to effect a streaked mass in which the colors are still distinct, detaching part of the kneaded mass, applying to an absorbent mold, distributing to a smooth film repeating the operation until a desired film is obtained, applying a slip to increase the wall thickness, drying to free from the mold and firing whereby when fired a mottled effect of any desired fineness of grain may be effected."

Young Rockefeller Receives Blackeye In Dartmouth Tilt

Clash Between Freshmen And Sophomores At Dartmouth Produces Many Bruises

(International News Service)

HANOVER, N. H., April 14.—Nelson Rockefeller, son of John D. Rockefeller, jr., and vice-president of the sophomore class at Dartmouth college, was sporting a black eye Friday, as a result of the vain attempt of the second year men to quell a freshman uprising. The outcome of which was the nullification of the freshman rules by the student governing body.

The freshman revolt began when all members of the class tossed their little pea green hats into a bonfire. It came to a climax when the yearlings accepted the challenge of the second year men and met in a pitched battle with the freshman rules at stake.

Two two classes struggled for possession of a length of rope, and although it was cut several times and even ignited, the sophomores could not wrest it from the freshmen.

Plane To Leave To Rescue Fliers

(International News Service)

MITCHEL FIELD, N. Y., April 14.—Fraulein Herta Junkers, daughter of the noted German airplane builder, will leave here today with Pilot Melchior in a sister ship of the transatlantic plane Bremen for Labrador to bring back the three gallant aviators who terminated their flight from Dublin at Greenely Island in frozen Belle Isle Straits, according to field officials.

The flight to the spot where the Bremen was landed when its gasoline supply became exhausted is approximately 1,100 miles. A large portion of this distance is over desolate territory still in the grip of snow and ice. It was stated here that the rescue plane, the C-87, might possibly stop at Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, en route.

Start Oiling Of Roads Next Week

Schedule Does Not Include Roads In This Part Of State

Oiling crews of the state highway department start work on oiling of the state highways on Monday, April 16, but no roads in or near Lawrence county are included in the schedule for the first week.

The state highway department publishes a schedule of the oiling to be done each week so that motorists may avoid the roads that are being freshly oiled if they wish to do so.

The roads to be oiled next week that lie the nearest to New Castle are in Allegheny county between Carnot and Stoops Ferry, Sewickley Heights and Sewickley and Coraopolis Heights and Coraopolis and in Washington county between Washington and West Alexander and in Westmoreland county Youngstown and Greensburg, Adamsburg and Manor, Greensburg and West Newton, Greensburg and Delmont, Greensburg and Crab Tree and Waterford and Stahlstown.

All other oiling during the next week is being done in the eastern part of the state.

For the sake of the G. O. P. claims of prosperity it might have been well not to have had the story about capacity steel operation and U. S. Steel orders dropping 6,983 tons on the same page.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

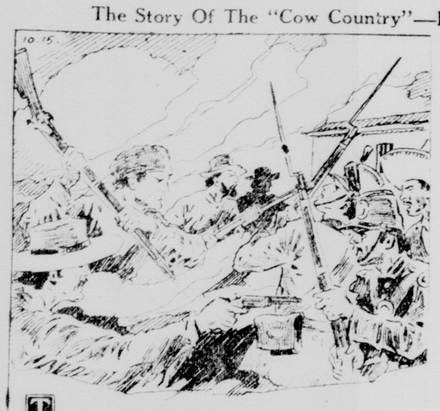
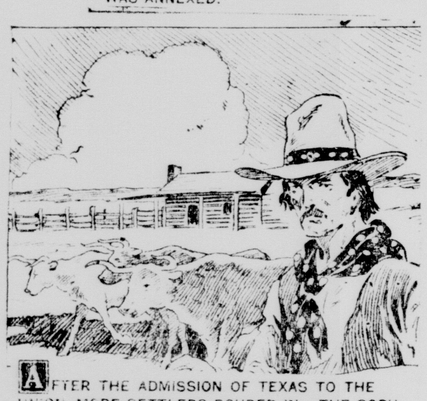
The Story Of The "Cow Country"—Part IV

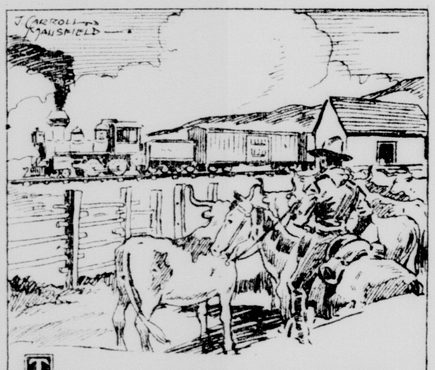


THE NUMBER OF AMERICAN SETTLERS IN TEXAS INCREASED UNTIL, IN 1836, THEY WERE STRONG ENOUGH TO REVOLT AGAINST MEXICAN POSSESSION AND MAKE TEXAS AN INDEPENDENT REPUBLIC.

SINCE 1803 AMERICANS HAD INSISTED THAT TEXAS RIGHTFULLY BELONGED TO THE UNITED STATES AS A PART OF THE GREAT LOUISIANA TERRITORY THAT THOMAS JEFFERSON HAD PURCHASED FROM NAPOLEON, BUT IT WAS NOT UNTIL 1845 THAT THE LONE STAR REPUBLIC WAS ANNEXED.



AFTER THE ADMISSION OF TEXAS TO THE UNION, MORE SETTLERS POURED IN. THE POPULATION WAS FURTHER INCREASED IN 1849, WHEN MANY FORTUNE HUNTERS, WEARIED OF THE LONG MARCH TO THE GOLD FIELDS OF CALIFORNIA, GAVE UP AND TURNED TO CATTLE RAISING.



THE CATTLE BUSINESS BECAME A BOOMING INDUSTRY IN THE 'SIXTIES, WHEN THE RAILROADS SPREAD ACROSS THE GREAT WESTERN PLAINS, LINKING THE RANCHES WITH THE GREAT MARKETS OF THE EAST.

Unseasonable Weather Keeping Crowds Away From Baseball Parks

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, April 14.—Proponents of the idea that it is better to see a ball game in your decollette shirt sleeves than feel it in your marrow were armed today with significant evidence that the baseball season is being started neither wisely nor too late. At least five of the eight inaugurals on Wednesday were made almost untenable from the standpoint of physical comfort because the weather was that of mid-February and yesterday the four scheduled games of the East were allowed to go by default because of rain, chill, and, in one instance snow.

For some years, there has been agitation in certain quarters for a later start in the major leagues, both as an aid to the noble athletes who swelter in the south so that they may congeal in the North as quickly as possible and as a boon to the populace. These reasons, of course, are stated strictly in the order of their importance. But, whatever the final reason may be, the time will come when baseball will set its calendar back by a matter of ten days or more on its own initiative. It won't do so because it finds it is unnecessarily subjecting its ball players to physical risks. Neither is it likely to take cognizance of the fact that sooner or later some mugg will have to be cut out of his overcoat and hung in the steam room until conscious or even sober. Those sort of things are a bit unromantic, but a baseball man doesn't let that bother him. He is highly sympathetic by nature, of course, and just can't help it that his sympathy is something with which he prefers to burden only himself. The sight of an empty seat will cause him to condole with himself by the hour.

Many Games Postponed

I take it, therefore, that he was all but heart-broken on Wednesday. The eight openings played to 198,517 patients, as we say in the outer office. On a more propitious occasion, they might have numbered as many as 275,000. At the Polo Grounds, for example Rogers Hornsby versus the Giants grossed 35,000; the attendance on a fair day might have been 55,000. In Philadelphia, they had Ruth, Gehrig, Cobb and Speaker in the same ball game and the turnstiles showed only 20,000 against a possible capacity of 35,000. There must have been a lot of keepers among those 20,000, at that.

In Brooklyn, the attendance was 12,000, whereas, on an ordinary Sunday in May, the first 35,000 get in the park and the others pile up in great disorder in the doorway.

These rows of empty seats speak the only language that is intelligible to the magnate. He insists on the early start because he fears the loss of a few patients who, lacking consideration, might go and die on him between April 11 and April 20. He likewise rushes the season because he thinks he might get a break on the weather and can prove that he did, back in 1829. He wrongs himself greatly on both points.

In the first place, the supply of patients between April 20 and October 1 will be just as great because the games will be as many—thanks to the double-headers that inevitably follow these April postponements. In the second place, our seasons have definitely changed so much that he doesn't figure to get a break on the weather in any early April game. We now have a climate of so called "open winters." These usually mean open springs—open like a cloud burst.

Junior Olympics Plan Tabooed By A. A. U. Officials

Plan For Series Of Contests Among Boys To Later Meet At Atlantic City Is Off

SEE CONFLICTION WITH BIG OLYMPICS

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, April 14.—There will not be two sets of Olympic games this year, it was learned today, and I can't help but say that I am astonished, a state of mind somewhat influenced by the fact that the other one seems to have been holding secret practice or something. But you don't mean to say you hadn't heard of the Junior Olympics? That's funny; neither had I. This, however, has had no influence on the fact that the Amateur Athletic Union thinks that a lot of young boys have been guilty of plagiarism and that the conflict in identities between the two simply cannot be tolerated for a moment.

The original idea of the Junior Olympics, it seems, was to hold a series of sectional track meets for boys under the age limit of the real Olympics, with the place winners to compete in a final set of games at Atlantic City some time in June. The winners of these final events then were to be sent pre-paid to Amsterdam to see the big International meeting.

Might Confuse

There may be something wrong with that picture but the writer is notoriously dumb about things like that and, somehow, he always fails to notice that the befuddled guest has chosen the wrong knife for the peas. T. A. A. U. being a discerning body of men, has realized immediately that the boys can't call their meet the Junior Olimpics because this would result in endless confusion.

Those, for example, who wished to visit Amsterdam for the real Olympics might wind up in Atlantic City if they didn't watch themselves very closely and, of course, a dollar contributed to the Olympic fund might get vary careless, too.

So, I am informed, the A. A. U. has decided there is nothing for it but to put its foot down on the situation at that, the action contemplated may be an improvement on the A. A. U. custom, which calls not for the foot to be put down in. Anyhow, the Junior Olympics, if carried through without professionalizing those juveniles, must be held under another name.

Personally, I think the Amateur Athletic Union is entirely too concerned about discouraging any kind of competition with the International games in Europe. It didn't want the Herr Doktor to race here this year because it was "an Olympic year and these races might take the edge off the games in Amsterdam."

The writer doesn't happen to agree with this version but that is the A. A. U.'s business and it should know its own game. Meddling in the affairs of young boys because it fears they might hurt this game, however, is neither the A. A. U.'s business for a boon to its credit.

Sport Ritticisms
By BILL RITT

Fans rushed out at a French soccer match and kissed the umpire. In America this is regarded as unsanitary and impossible.

It would take a great deal of enthusiasm and an iron constitution to kiss the grizzled pans of some of our baseball arbitors. Those babies have mugs that would frighten a gorilla out of a year's growth.

* * *

The fad might spread. Ball players and managers might be the next victims. One shudders to think of such a hideous sight as John McGraw and Connie Mack helplessly fleeing with 10,000 flapper fans at their heels.

Embracing Babe Ruth would be a two-person job. Throwing arms around the Mammoth of Maul would be like trying to get a strangle hold on Pike's Peak.

The kiss system of applause must be stamped out before it starts. We can't afford to have every home run launch a kissing bee and the world series to end up in a petting party.

* * *

Should the French method of saluting worthy athletes with a sound smack on the lips seep into the national pastime, the players will have only one recourse. The whole team can don catchers' masks.

Italians Put Team In Twilight Loop

At the recent meeting of the Twilight league officials and managers, a new team entered the fold for this year. The new club will be known as the Italian Athletic club.

C. L. Ross represented the team at the meeting and obtained a franchise. The team will more than likely utilize Centennial field for their games. The team roster contains the names of: Clem General, Ernie Palus, Vito Cialella, Bill Augostine, Frankie Ross, Frank Colo, Bill Chill, Ike Biondi, and Tip Richards.

Any person desiring to tryout for the team is asked to communicate with C. L. Ross at his home, 915 South Mill street or to call phone 1192. Everyone will be given a fair and impartial tryout.

Hopes To Be Fifth At 3,000 Mile Mark

Dilks Says Shin Trouble Is Disappearing And Will Be In Fifteenth Place At 2,000 Mile Mark And in Fifth Position When Runners Reach 3,000 Miles; Arthur Newton, Adviser To Runners, Says That Dilks Is Full Of Vitality, Thoroughly Happy And Confident; Boosters Meet Monday Night At Elks

By ED. FRITZ

Earle Lin Dilks, the New Castle runner in the Coast-to-Coast derby is moving up and when the two thousand miles mark is reached he hopes to be fifteenth and when the caravan trots to the 3,000 miles mark he hopes to be in fifth place.

At least that is the information that Dilks telegraphed from El Reno, Okla., to the Dilks Boosters organization of this city yesterday afternoon. He says that food and accommodation troubles have disappeared owing to fellow citizens generosity.

His first letter written from Sayre, Okla., follows:

"You already have my telegrams acknowledging my indebtedness to the good citizens of New Castle and perhaps I had better explain that I have a friend to type at my dictation as writing would occupy so much time that I could scarcely spare.

"My sole ambition is to see New Castle at the head, or as near as possible, of the winners at New York and I know that my every energy must be utilized for that purpose. So my private correspondence is being neglected since I am quite aware that I cannot make a good job of two things at once and the race is the only one that counts at the present.

"My damaged shin is very much better thanks to the attentions of my fellow citizens who have so generously supplied me with money but I am still taking things easily for a day or two as it would be foolish to risk a reoccurrence of the trouble.

Has No Food Troubles

Food and accommodation troubles have disappeared entirely and these were pretty serious a week or two ago.

"We had a couple of days of heavy going recently in snowstorms but my training pulled me through where many of the softer men faded away. So in spite of my hanging back to give my leg a chance, I have automatically moved up a step or two. Not that it really matters at this stage as I am convinced that place counts for very little until another thousand or more miles have been passed and long before that I hope to be among the leaders once more."

A day later, Arthur Newton, writing from Clinton, Okla., wrote for Dilks and said:

"I trust you will forgive the liberty I take in sending you a note in regard to Mr. Dilks. I am the 'technical adviser' of all the runners and help them with their correspondence and anything else I can.

"What I wanted to explain is that we are all very fully occupied indeed. I am sitting up in bed at 10:10 p. m., to write this though I have to be up early next morning to start off running with the men again and have no time whatever to spare, outside our usual work, except for the most urgent business.

Shin Trouble Disappearing

"I trust your organization will understand this situation. Mr. Dilks has at this moment arrived from his 50 mile journey today and has shown me your telegram and has gone off to get some food. He will not be able to sleep until after 11 p. m. or even later as he has to get a bath on his return. As he also has to get breakfast between six and seven tomorrow morning you will see that he has literally no time at his disposal, hence this letter.

"Were it not for this explanation I thought you might get the impression that he was careless about his correspondence but I can assure you that such is far from being the case and were it not that some of us are occasionally able to help him out with it, he would be considerably worried and handicapped in a way.

"He is full of vitality, thoroughly happy, confident in your good work in his behalf and most grateful for it and his shin trouble is almost a thing of the past.

"When circumstances permit he will send you a line but regularity is next door to the impossible."

SORDS POINTS

Hugh Critz May Take Place With Hornsby and Frisch This Year

A magnificent comeback on the part of Hughie Critz, stellar second baseman of the Cincinnati Reds, is forecast by the baseball enthusiasts of Pretzelburg on the Ohio.

In camp and on the road back north young Mr. Critz displayed such form and dash that the forecast does not seem at all out of place.

It was in the campaign of 1926 when Critz rose to what up to this time has been the zenith of his career. He led all second basemen in a league which includes such greats as Rogers Hornsby and Frankie Frisch. In 1927 Critz was a hold out and when he did get back into a uniform he had to take a long time to get in first rate trim.

During the heetic battles of 1926 Critz was a veritable flash around the second sack of the red-legged crew. Out of a possible 963 chances he accepted all but 16 and had his nose in 107 double plays. He was a dependable hitter, too.

There are many who believe Critz might have kept up his dazzling pace the following year had he not gone on the holdout path in the spring of 1927. Even with the handicap already mentioned, he ended last season third in his league with but 20 misses in 647 chances in 113 games.

Frankie Frisch won the keystone honors of the league last season. The Cardinal star is apt to put up a terrific battle again this year and then there is that blazing light of the Boston Braves, Rogers Hornsby, also to be reckoned with. If Critz repeats his 1926 performance he will know that he has had a fight.

Critz's entire big league career has been in Red harness. Somehow the atmosphere of Redland field seems to have agreed with him and he has turned in a great record for Cincinnati as far as the playing side goes.

Hugh graduated from Mississippi A & M. college in 1920 and came to the Reds in 1924 from Minneapolis of the American association.

So happy to be up in the big time was Hughie that he knocked the cover off the ball in his first season for an average of .322. That was his greatest effort as far as starring with the bat is concerned. Hughie hasn't threatened the .300 circle since.

Critz is 27 years old and a native of Starville, Miss. He is not very large, being but five feet eight inches in height and weighing only 148 pounds, an ideal size for a guardian of the keystone sack. He is a right-hander.

Sportraits

Connie Mack, veteran war horse of the American League, began his 28th year as manager of the Philadelphia Athletics when the Quaker boys tangled with the Yankees to start the season.

Up to 1915 Mr. Mack was probably the most feared power in the American League. He had won six pennants, close to one every other year. But he crapped his 1914 championship outfit and since then has battled vainly to win another flag.

This year he has an outfit that experts figure the Yanks must whip to win the 1928 gonfalon.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Matchmaker Jess McMahon is now planning to show seven of the nine boxing champions under Tex Rickard's banner this spring and summer. Matches have developed, or are developing, for all except Mickey Walker, who won't fight for Rickard because Jack Kearns is his manager.

Here is the way McMahon would line them up:

May 4—Tod Morgan vs. Eddie (Cannonball) Martin for the Junior Lightweight title at Madison Square Garden.

May 17—Sammy Mandell vs. Jimmy McLarnin for the Lightweight title at the Polo Grounds.

May 24—Izzy Schwartz vs. Frankie Genaro for the flyweight title at the Garden.

June 7—Tommy Loughran vs. Jimmy Slattery or Leo Lomski for Light Heavyweight title at the Yankee Stadium.

June 14—Bud Taylor vs. Kid Francis for bantamweight title at the Yankee Stadium.

June 21—Joe Dundee vs. Ace Hudkins or Sammy Baker for Welterweight title at the Polo Grounds.

July 26—Tunney vs. Tom Heeney for Heavyweight title at the Yankee Stadium.

NOTICE

Baseball scores and notices turned into the Sport Department of The News must be in the office the night the game is played, or in an emergency not later than 9 o'clock the next morning, and must be written plainly, and be complete. Dempsey May Help Train Sharkey For Bout With Delaney

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 14.—Jack Dempsey may box Jack Sharkey when the Boston heavyweight goes into training at Gus Wilson's camp near Orangeburg, N. Y., for his bout with Jack Delaney. The former heavyweight champion is expected to visit the camp following the conclusion of his legal bout with Jack Kearns. Inasmuch as Dempsey plans to limber up in the camp of his old trainer, he may do some sparring with the man he knocked out of the Tunney shot last year.

Delaney goes into training at Bridgeport, Conn., next Monday, just two weeks before the bout. Yesterday the New York boxing commission instructed Delaney and Sharkey to post weight forfeits of $5,000 apiece on or before next Tuesday.

Tod Morgan of Seattle, junior lightweight champion, and Eddie (Cannonball) Martin were ordered to post a forfeit of $2,500 apiece next week for their bout here on May 4.

Gehrig Gets His First Home Run

Gehrig Gets Jump On Babe Ruth; Hauser, Todt, And Frisch Have Two

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 14.—The home run duel between Ruth and Gehrig, home run twins of the New York Yankees, is on again—and Buster is one up on the Babe. Gehrig hit his first homer of the season against the Athletics yesterday. He also clouted a tripie, while a double was the best Ruth could get.

The league leaders are Phil Todt of the Red Sox and Joe Hauser of the Athletics. Each has two, made yesterday. Hauserd, who was one of the league's longest hitters before he injured his knee, also smacked a triple yesterday.

Frank Frisch of St. Louis and Harvey Hendrick of Brooklyn, are the only National League players who have hit two homers this season.

Browns Display Classy Attack

St. Louis Jubilant As Browns Take Three Straight From Detroit

LOU GEHRIG HITS FIRST HOME RUN

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, April 14.—Dan Howley, starting his second season as manager of the Browns, is being hailed in St. Louis today as the "Miracle Man" destined to lead the Brownies out of the American League wilderness. The genial Howley has startled the baseball world by guiding his new team to three successive victories over the Detroit Tigers, regarded as a much stronger outfit.

The three defeats have been hard for Detroit fans to swallow because they were chiefly due to the playing of former Tiger stars, Marcelle Blue and Manion. Yesterday Manion, a pinch hitter, tied the score with a home run in the ninth and set the stage for the fiasco in the eleventh when Holloway, the Detroit pitcher, lost his own game on a wild pitch, 4 to 3.

The Tigers' companions in misfortune included the Philadelphia Athletics, whose pennant hopes have received a terrific jolt in the form of two defeats by the New York Yankees. The A's are hitting as well as ever but as was the case last year, the Yanks are slugging the ball even harder. The two teams made six home runs in yesterday's game, which New York won by an 8 to 7 margin. Joe Hauser got two and Gehrig one. "Death Valley" Phil Todt of the Red Sox also hit two homers but the Sox lost to Washington, 6 to 4.

Splendid pitching performances by Arthur Nehf and Dazzy Vance featured the National League games. Nehf, a world series hero six or seven years ago, staged a comeback with the Cubs by blanking the Reds, 2 to 0. Nehf was not considered good enough to stick with the Reds last year.

Vance Tames Phils

Vance held the Phillies to five hits as Brooklyn won 6 to 1.

Hendrick got his second home run of the season and Del Bissonette, slugger obtained by Brooklyn from the International League, also hit for the circuit.

The New York Giants tied the St. Louis Cardinals for first place in the senior circuit by plastering the Boston Graves again, 7 to 3. Andy Cohen, New York fandom's new idol, again outshone Rogers Hornsby, his departed rival, by batting in three runs. The Giants put the game on ice by shoving five runs across the pan in the eighth.

The Cleveland-Chicago game was halted by rain in the sixth with the score 1-1. Letty Miller and Grady Adkins, White Sox rookie from Shreveport, staged a pretty pitching duel. The Indians remain tied with the Browns and Yanks for first place.

Rain held the Pirates and Cardinals idle.

GROVE CITY, April 14.—Joe Hartman, well known Grove City man and member of the Grove City high school faculty, will leave for Johnstown, Pa., June 5 to join the Johnstown baseball club in the Middle Atlantic league for the remainder of the season. Hartman pitched for the "Johnnies" last season, being farmed out by the Pittsburgh Pirates, and was considered as one of the best moundsmen in the league.

Hartman is a graduate of Grove City college and was one of the outstanding stars in baseball and basketball while in school. Since graduation he has held down the position as coach of athletics of Grove City high school, and has turned out a number of winning teams. Last fall he developed a football team which won the Mercer county championship, and for the last two years he has been busy putting his squad through a stiff spring practice. He is in the best of condition and is expected to strengthen the Johnstown lineup considerably.

Hundreds Enjoy Operetta At Lincoln School

Performance Of Musical Play Goes Over Big Before Crowd In Gymnasium Friday

ELLWOOD CITY, April 14.—About four hundred people witnessed the first play of its kind to be put on by the Lincoln Junior High school students, the operetta "In Arcady" Friday evening in the gymnasium of the school. The house was packed and the audience appeared delighted with the performance of the younger generation of thespians.

The opening chorus went through their numbers without a hitch, their curls and sunbonnets bobbing rythmically. All the characters were well selected, and the farmer boys chorus were very good in their parts.

Romance thrives through the two acts and blossoms into a grand finale at the close of the second act with their entire chorus and leading characters singing of wedding bells of Arcady.

Specialties during the performance were: A little solo dance by Catherine Wilson, with the Village chorus, and a Harmonica Septette of boys which play lilting tunes, while two of them do fast clogs, and one posses a tricky Adam's apple which made his tie bob up and down. The entire performance reflected great on the managers of the performance, and also on the diversified talent of the Lincoln Junior High school.

"Uncle Robbie" By Feg Murray

As you look at the plump figure of Wilbert Robinson, manager of the Brooklyn National League baseball club, you find it hard to believe that he once made a major league batting record, getting seven hits in seven times at bat in one game. But that was back in June, 1892, long before Robbie had acquired the circumference for which he is now noted. Wilbert Robinson was a star catcher in his youth, first with the old Philadelphia Athletics in 1886, and from 1891 to 1899 with the famous Baltimore Orioles.

Robbie used to catch barehanded, too, and tried out the first catcher's chest protector. Later on in his career, when back stops had stooped so low as to wear gloves, Robbie was the first to stand close behind the batter throughout a game. In his earliest baseball days, Robinson went by the name of "Billy Fish," and had quite a reputation as a wrestler as well as a ball player. Considering the position he played on the diamond, one may safely guess that the style of wrestling he indulged in was "catch-as catch can."

Besides his title of manager, Uncle Robbie also gets his mail addressed to President Wilbert Robinson. The genial "Squire of Flatbush" used to drape his elephant-like frame in a tent, or uniform, and take up a position along the coaching lines, but since he acquired the dignity, if any, of the presidency of the Brooklyn ball club he works his strategy from the well-reinforced bench in the dugout.

"Uncle Robbie," after a career of more than forty years in the national pastime, is known as the greatest pitching coach in the game, and one of the best-loved men in all baseball.

Feg Murray Says—

The ins and outs of golf. Out of practice, in the rough. In the rough, out of the money.

Lieutenant Keely Resigns His Post

To Devote Entire Time To His Business Enterprise; Successor To Be Named

Lieutenant Paul W. Keely of the 125th Engineers has resigned from the Pennsylvania National Guard in order to take better care of his business which has been growing rapidly and required his personal attention. He was recently tendered a farewell dinner by those associated with him in the company.

In the resignation of Lieutenant Keely the service has lost a very efficient officer who in the last eight years devoted practically all his time to the service. His service started in 1920 with the First Pennsylvania Cavalry which was soon changed to the 104th Cavalry and served in the latter organization until it was disbanded in 1926.

Later when the 125th Engineers were offered to this city by General Beary he and his associates began at once to recruit the young men that now make up the present company stationed here.

At present the company has as its commander Captain William R. Walter who has shown much ability in promoting military science among his men and certainly did show it at the federal inspection. The inspection officers were Col. Fair, commander of the 52nd Cavalry brigade to which the 125th Engineers are attached and Major Heller of the regular army.

The rating for this was very satisfactory, which is good considering the fact that B Company, 125th Engineers is just a little more than a year old. At present the company does not have any lieutenant but there are two reserve officers under consideration as lieutenants of the outfit.

Captain Walter has for his non-commissioned officers First Sergeant, Robert F. Boughter, who has had eight years of service; Staff Sergeant, Forest L. Florida, eight years service; Sergeant Lee W. Hoovler; Sergeant John E. Reed, Sergeant Chas. A. Glenn, Sergeant Percy J. Knight Sergeant Mitchell Degation; Corporal Donald Florida, Corporal Lee Stewart, Corporal Bert Rick, Corporal Richard Mayberry, Sergeant Edwin McCreary, Sergeant George Mitchell.

The armory is open to the public on drill nights and those visiting the place on that night will see all the formations that come under military science. At the present time the company is recruited up to peace time strength.

Girl Reserves Have Recognition Service

The seventh and eighth grade Girl Reserves of North Street Junior High had their recognition service for new club members, Friday evening in the Y. W. C. A. During the evening there was the recognition ceremony and program. New Members taken into the club were, Joan Rudolph, Sara Lee Broida, Marian Bergland, Margaret Sprott, Eleanor Horner, Mary Johns, Leah Bird, Anna Kennedy, Marguerite Hoffman.

A program was presented during the evening, as follows: Piano solo, Gretchen Myers; vocal solo, Isabel Balph; reading, Mary Kathryn Jackson; reading, Marguerite Hoffman; piano solo, Emily Reynolds; reading, Sara Lee Broida.

N. Y. STOCKS

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, April 14—Prices of the speculative industrial and motor stocks slumped sharply at the beginning of trading today as the result of the crowding of the market with profit-taking sales from the various points. General Motors led the downward movement, selling down to 193 in the first group of sales, for a loss of about 5½ points from Friday's close. Various industrials and specialties lost 2 to 4 points in the first period.

Failure of the bulls in the final period yesterday to push "big motors" over the 200 mark in an enormous turnover of stock took some of the speculative enthusiasm from the "small fry" traders.

Buying support for General Motors, United States Steel and other market favorites was sufficient to promptly arrest the downward movement and to bring about a good rally in the stocks which bore the brunt of the early selling movement. General Motors rose 3½ points to 196½ and recoveries of one to two points were scored by other motor, steel and copper shares. Tobacco products was at the head of a strong upward movement in the new specialties, and the move in Schulte Retail Stores gained headway to the accompaniment of reports of a contemplated increase of the dividends to 4½ per cent with extras.

Trading was in such heavy volume in the first hour that the ticker fell 18 minutes behind the market. Strength and activity of a few of the railroad and public utility stocks toward the close.

Selling pressure increased in the final period. General Motors and United States Steel were forced to absorb heavy profit taking and professional selling, and prices of these and other stocks in the closing period showed a shrinkage of from 5 to 15 points from a high of the previous session.

While most of yesterday's favorites were under pressure near the close, losses were moderate in comparison with the sky-rocketing advances of the former sessions of the week. At 166 General Electric was down 3½ from the previous close, but up 10 points from last Saturday. Radio Corporation sold down about 5 points in the final period, but moderate rallies took place in the steel and motor stocks. Trading orders piled up in the last half-hour, and the ticker was 32 minutes behind the market at the close.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF NEW YORK MARKET

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, April 14—The end of the sixth week of the March-April market finds technical stock market conditions very strong in the fact of an accumulation of unfavorable factors which well might have wrecked the ambitious plans of the bulls and checksd the wold upward movement of prices which has furnished the greatest upset in the speculative history.

Most important of these bearish factors was the rise of call money rates to per cent for the first time since the latter part of 1926. Not once in all of the boiling markets of 1927 did the call loan rate exceed 5½ per cent and then only during brief periods when an extra load of Federal government or industrial financing was thrown on the banks. Since then there have been a number of important changes, including the shipment abroad of $330,000,000 in gold and the advance of rediscount rates to 4 per cent.

Steel At New High

Refreshed by the triple-holiday over Easter Sunday, Wall street returned on Monday to its tasks, and the jubilant bulls lost no time in marking up prices of their speculative favorites. Powerful market leaders behind the movement in General Motors pushed that stock to within a point of the high level recorded a few weeks ago. United States Steel set up a new high record and new specialties were whipped along at savage going into higher ground.

The huge expansion in brokers loans, which today stand at $1,200,000,000 above the total of the same period in 1927, and the 6 per cent call loan rate induced such heavy profit taking and speculative selling that the upward price movement received more than one severe jolt, but the lifting of selling pressure revealed abroad outside demand for stocks, and it was apparently easy for the bulls to bring about a sharp rally.

The succession of overloaded markets, rendered trading difficult. As a result, the big wire houses in Wall street are receiving an ever-increasing proportion of their business from out of town points, which have apparently "taken the play" from the professionals and room traders in Wall street. There has been an enormous influx of investment money into the big field and part of it is to be employed in absorbing the new stock and bond issues which are to be offered later on.

Rail Stocks Active

The drift to the railroad stocks was again in progress. New York Central led a brilliant advance in the better grade of investment rails. Selling above 181 for the first time in the history of that strong and well operated road. It is believed that the problems incidental to the consolidation of a number of the well known roads into the fourth eastern trunk line system, with the elimination of the so-called Loree fifth trunk line, are gradually admitting of solution, and that the New York merger will be effected, after many delays.

The commodity markets were generally strong, with wheat and cotton responding with higher prices to lower yield prospects and stronger trade demand. Crude rubber appears to be stabilized for the time being around 18 cents a pound. Call money rates eased off to 5 per cent at the week-end.

Seven Firemen In New York Overcome By Smoke In Blaze

Lieutenant And Six Firemen Overcome By Acrid Smoke

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 14.—Laid in cots on the sidewalk, a lieutenant and six firemen were restored to consciousness early today after being overcome by acrid smoke in a four-alarm fire in a building under construction on Sixth avenue. The seven victims were dragged from the burning building by comrades after they had collapsed.

While 5,000 persons from Broadway theatres and night clubs looked on, the blaze was brought under control after a three-hour fight. A studio apartment building next door was threatened and prominent artists fled into the street carrying paintings worth hundreds of thousands of dollars.

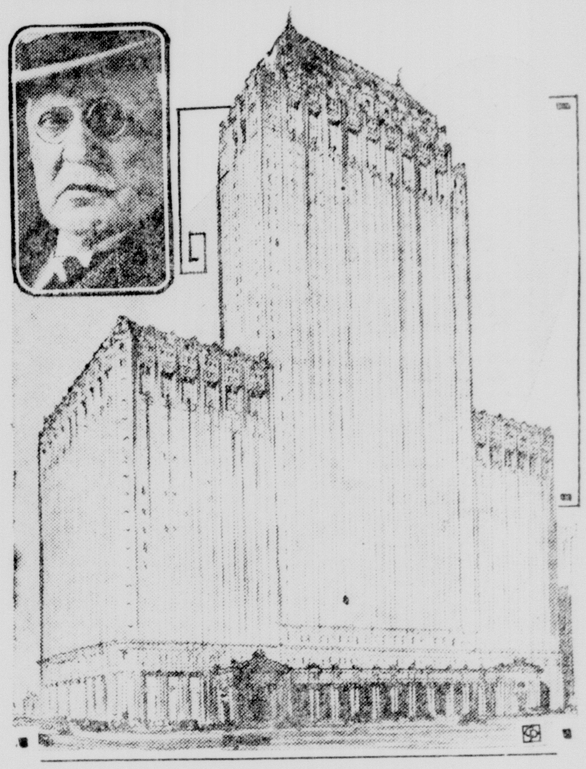
CHICAGO THREATENS NEW YORK



Chicago is threatening New York—not with bombs, but as the operatic center of the world. This probably is due to the determination of Samuel Insull, Chicago utilities magnate, sponsoring the city's $20,000,000 opera project. He has decided the building is to be commercial as well as ornamental and not only self-supporting, but profitable. Above, architect's drawing of the building which will be 21 stories tall and have a tower 21 stories high. Inset is of Insull.

BOY SCOUT Activities

TROOP 14 BOYS ON HIKE

Troop 14 held a hike out the Harlansburg road this week for the purpose of passing tests. Many tests were passed, including fire making, signaling, use of knife, axe and cooking. The scouts also built a lean-to. This was a very successful undertaking and the scouts were pleased. They plan to build more of these and to use them for overnight camping. Another such hike will be taken by the boys of the troop in a short time.

LEADERSHIP SCHOOL TO MEET

The next session of the Leadership Training school will be held Monday evening, April 16, at the Carnegie auditorium.

This will be the organization meeting of the school and a large number of men are expected to be present.

The school is not only for those interested in scouting, although it is being conducted under the auspices of the leadership and training committee of the Lawrence County Boy Scout council, but it is for all interested in leadership of any kind.

TROOP 14 MEETS

Troop 14 held its regular meeting Friday, April 13, at the troop meeting place. The opening exercise was in charge of the senior patrol leader Fred Wilkes, Jr., followed by the roll call by the scribe.

Rev. Bell, chairman of the troop committee, gave a talk telling that the troop was to put on a program April 27. The talk was very fine and the boys were pleased with it. After that the scoutmaster made announcements and talked about the camporee. The patrols then assembled and several tests were passed by the boys. A contest was then held and the Eagle and Fox patrols tied for first place. First aid and other scout activities were practiced. After an interesting scout game the troop was dismissed with the closing exercise in charge of Junior Assistant Scoutmaster Harold Morgan.

The next meeting will be outdoors if the weather permits. The scouts will meet at the Y. W. C. A. at 6 o'clock and will then hike to the meeting place.

Scribe—Harry Hood.

ELKS TROOP MEETS

Elks troop No. 5 held its weekly meeting in the basement of the Elks home Thursday evening. The meeting was in charge of Scoutmaster Ralph H. Davis, assisted by Walter Kerr. Three committeemen present were Sol Davis, Walter DeArmant and Garfield Davis.

Fred Warner, Bob Brown, John Carsen and Will Fair were voted into the troop. The troop can still hold a few more boys and if any boy wishes to join he is requested to report at the next meeting to be held April 19 at the Elks home.

Committeemen of the troop have offered a prize to the eight boys having perfect attendance for two months. All scouts of the troop are interested and expect to attempt to win the reward.

Tests were passed in tenderfoot and second class ratings. Ralph F. Davis instructed the boys on compass work and map making. The Flying Eagle patrol is still leading the patrol contest. An outside meeting is being planned and every boy is asked to be present next meeting.

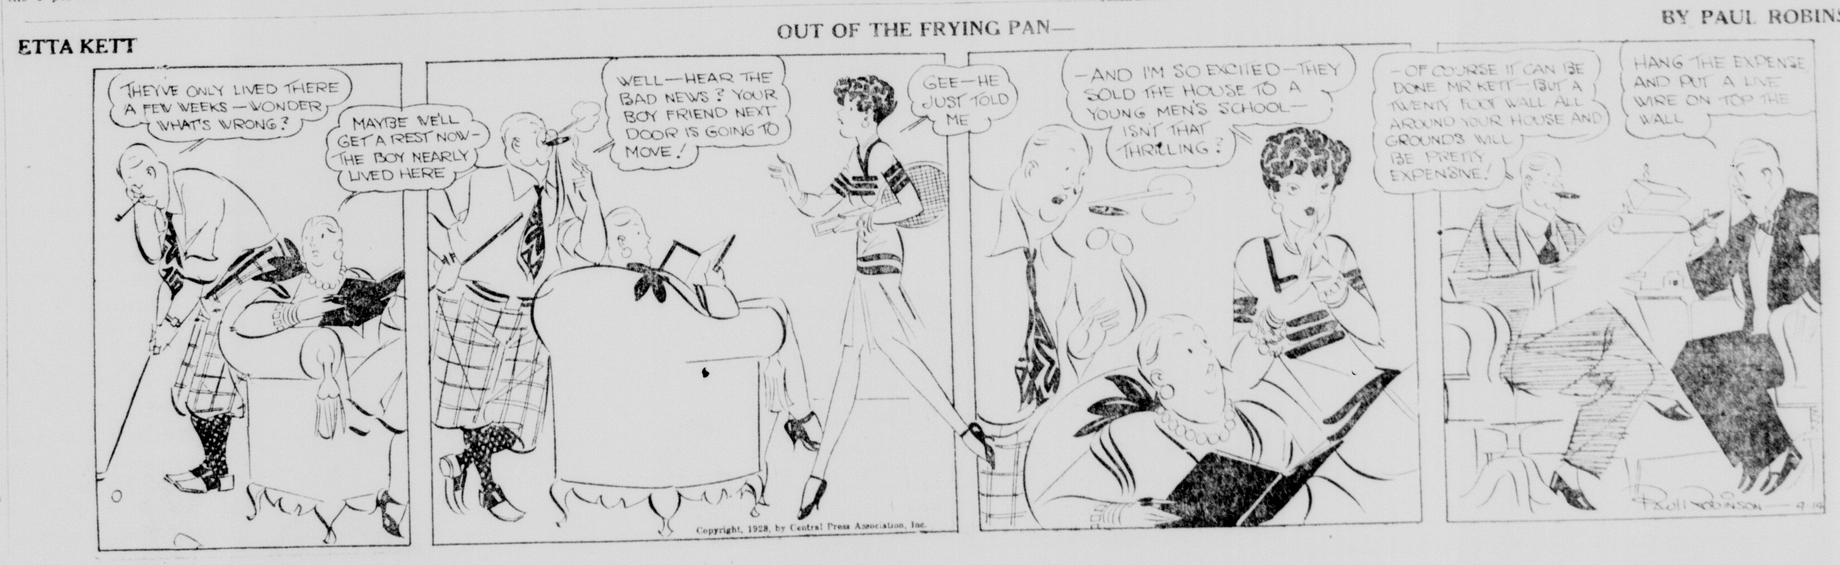
RICHARD DIX IS REPORTED TO BE CRITICALLY ILL

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 14—Grave concern over his condition was evidenced here today by friends of Richard Dix, motion picture star, as a result of the report emanating from the hospital where Dix is confined to the effect that serious lung and kidney complications had set in.

The actor was operated upon at the Roosevelt hospital last Tuesday after he had suffered an attack of acute appendicitis. He was first reported to be recovering speedily, but a serious change in his condition occurred, according to hospital attendants.

There were large families in the old days because it didn't take a specialist, two nurses and $750 to add a unit.



Oil Conspiracy Justice Weighs Points Of Law

Justice Bailey Adjourns Teapot Dome Trial To Study Technicals

WILL GIVE RULING MONDAY MORNING

E. L. Doheny Jr. Will Likely Be Witness At Resumption Of Famous Case

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The Teapot Dome oil conspiracy trial marked time today while Justice Jennings Bailey unraveled some highly technical points of law.

Monday, when the case resumes, Bailey will rule on whether Prosecutor Owen J. Roberts may present evidence to the jury concerning collateral financial transactions undertaken by the principals of the 1923 oil scandals which Roberts holds will serve to prove "a thoroughly corrupt state of mind".

The disputed evidence the prosecutor is seeking to place in the record against Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire lessor of Teapot Dome, deals with $25,000 in liberty bonds Sinclair gave to Former Secretary of Interior Fall in the summer of 1923, and with $100,000 in cash which E. L. Doheny, millionaire lessor of the Elk Hills oil reserve, sent to Fall in November, 1921.

Attorney Objects

Sinclair's attorneys have objected to both, contending that the $25,000 transaction occurred long after the lease of Teapot Dome, and that the Doheny deal had nothing whatever to do with Sinclair.

Roberts, however, wants to show the jury that Sinclair concealed himself as the person who gave the $25,000, while with respect to the other he wants to show that Fall was in the habit of freely taking money from the men to whom he turned over the naval reserves.

E. L. Doheny Jr., who carried the $100,000 in the famous "little black bag" from his father to Fall, will be in court ready to take the stand Monday if Bailey lets the evidence in.

ABE MARTIN — On Being a New Woman

CATCHIN' UP ON TH' NEWS

"Ther's so many things t' keep informed about t' foller up an' keep posted about, things t' keep conversant on, that I'm afraid t' meet people any more fer fear they'll feel me out on somethin' I've overlooked," declared Mrs. Pogue Swallow, one of our leadin' clubwomen. "My goodness," she continued, "one's either got t' let ther home work go or be an ignoramus. I don't know whether Hoover's wet or dry, or anything about th' Haugen bill, an' I've lost all track o' that Painesville (O.) girl that bumped her husband off with a table leg. One jest can't keep a house straight an' foller three or four murders at once, t' say nothin' o' bank failures. One can't even foller th' fortunes o' newly married friends without gittin' back on ther' work. Take th' Purviance weddin' o' two weeks ago. I don't even know whether they're livin' t'gether now or not. I wuz embarrassed nearly t' death yisterday when a club sister said t' me, 'Well, that feller down at Miammy Beach that's goin' t' be shot in a rocket t' Venus is waitin' fer th' weather t' git right.' Finally I said, 'Oh, it's bound t' clear up,' an' then switched the subject t' Vitamin F, an' later on branched off on Mrs. Tilford Moots' gallstones operation. You show me somebuddy that's conversant on all th' darn fool dare devils an' trans-Atlantic takeoffs, an' Chicago bombin's an' I'll show you somebuddy that's neglectin' ther work an' back on ther bathin'. I'm so sorry th' new woman has come in, fer we're supposed to know ever'thing, an' kitchen help is so hard t' git', an' goodness knows I've got children comin' on, an' it's hard t' be puritanical at home an' then be expected t' cut loose in a crowd. 'Im wadin' thro' a big thick off-color novel 'cause I know I'm liable t' have t' discuss it most any time, but it keeps me busy hidin' it from th' children. I haven't had a minute t' give t' my divorce now pendin', an' my kitchen is a sight. An' my married daughter keeps comin' home ever whipstich an' stayin' fer two weeks at a time. She don't say nothin', but I believe she's thinkin'. This is a tryin' age fer women, tryin' t' be somebuddy at home, an' somebuddy out of it. I hain't had time t' be fer Dawes, or Hoover, or Al Smith, or anybuddy, an' ther's a New Jersey murder that hangs on an' on, an' no end o' threatened divorces right under my nose, t' say nothin' of a Nature Study Club election this very week. How one kin find time t' write a paper on th' child life o' Mozart, an' make th' beds, an' keep washed up an' painted, an' well posted, is more'n I kin understand. Somethin's got to be neglected, husband, bathin' or somethin'."

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

It was a beautiful car. Long and low, and destined to suggest speed and power. One of these important looking cars that nick a bank roll, and sort of lord it over ordinary cars on the road. One of those cars that just breathes class and distinction and six miles to a gallon. Anyway, the car was rolling down one of the business streets, or perhaps it would be better to say it was purring down for the motor was as quiet as any such mechanical device could be.

And inside the car, with his snout pressed up against the glass was a dog, a saucy looking fellow, looking out at passersby with the most delicious disdain on his face that you can imagine.

He felt the importance of his car and was telling the world in his doglike way that he was sitting on top of that world. That here was a car that stood out from the ordinary run of mine puddle jumpers, that it was his car, his and his master's and he didn't care to associate with folks who had to walk.

And the dog's highbrow attitude amused me, for his owner is one of the most democratic fellows in the world and I'm glad he can drive such a good car. But his dog is very high hat.

It isn't going to be long now until the sight of a plane above the city will be just an ordinary everyday occurrence. Most any good flying day this summer is going to see planes above the city, and by the fall hundreds of New Castle people who were never up are going to have had this experience.

We're all glad that the Bremen made this side of the pond safely, but Hughey Hannon knew all the time it would. Wasn't Colonel Fitzmaurice on board and isn't Colonel Fitzmaurice Irish? The answer is obvious.

Saw a snappy looking equipage on Laurel boulevard. A spirited trotting horse pulling a racing cart. Stepping along as though the muscles and tendons in its legs were of spring steel.

Stan Treser is mixed up in another piece of business. Not so long ago Stan had New Castle by the ears with his street and avenue puzzle and now's he's a captain of a team in a membership contest in the Men's Bible class of the First Baptist church. Red Williams is the other captain but Stan claims to have the champion team of go-getters and that Red is merely using an excuse to pass up the contest.

This paragraph is put in for the benefit of those folks who wonder how many miles a plane can go on a gallon of gasoline. Chamberlin made the statement that he had made 150 miles in one hour and 15 minutes on five gallons of gasoline and used but a quart of oil. This was in his flivver plane which has but three cylinders. Planes such as Crowl and Kegarise have, used about six gallons of gas per hour and will do about 100 miles, which is mighty good mileage for any motor.

MENU HINT

If you like to experiment with your food, try your morning grapefruit with maple syrup. The molded salad is always nice when you want to prepare a meal ahead and have your salad all ready to serve.

BREAKFAST

Goldenrod Eggs on Toast
Coffee
LUNCHEON
Bouillon Crackers
Waffles and Syrup
Tea
DINNER
Veal Loaf Stuffed Baked Potatoes
Buttered Parsnips.
Nut Bread Butter
Lemon Salad
Ice Box Cake Coffee

Today's Recipes.

Grapefruit with Maple Syrup—Core the fruit and fill center with maple syrup.

Goldenrod Eggs—Allow one egg for each person. Cook hard. Toast a slice of bread for each person. Prepare a cream sauce, three tablespoons butter and three tablespoons flour creamed together with one cup milk added. Separate yolks and whites of eggs. Chop the whites and put in the cream sauce. Pour over toast, dice the yolks and scatter on sauce.

Lemon Salad—One package lemon gelatin is sufficient for a family of five. Make the gelatin, and when cool enough add enough grated cabbage to make thick and a grated green pepper. When this is set and ready to serve, cut in squares, place on lettuce and serve with mayonnaise dressing.

Suggestions.

Finishing Up Mashed Potatoes.

Butter a casserole well, pack in cold mashed potato (enough to serve your family) and cover liberally with thin slices of your favorite cheese. Dot generously with butter and place in moderate oven until a golden brown crust forms.
